ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A thesis is rarely, in fact never, the work of one person. It is to a considerable extent the judicious imitation and adaptation of other people's ideas and theories, put within the framework of one's own critical analysis. Sometimes a research scholar gets help and inspiration from totally unexpected sources. Hence, even where no individual acknowledgement has not been possible, I would like to express my gratitude to all those who have helped me in the course of my research.

My greatest debt is to the Department of History, Jawaharlal Nehru University, with which I have been associated for the past eight years. I wish specially to thank my guide Dr. R. Champakalakshmi for her immense patience and the encouragement and guidance extended by her in the course of this research. I would also like to thank the Chairman of the Centre, Prof. S. Bhattacharya and Dr. Satish Sabarwal for going through some of my chapters and making useful suggestions. I wish to acknowledge with gratitude the unfailing kindness of Prof. Bipan Chandra, the Dean of the School of Social Sciences. I am very grateful to Prof. Nurul Hasan for his ungrudging help over this research. Mr. R.P. Jain of the Centre of German Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University was kind enough to translate for me some important German and Sanskrit texts.
I am also grateful for the financial assistance provided by the Indian Council of Historical Research for this study.

For their great help and cooperation extended to me in the collection and translation of weaver community literature, I wish to thank - The Devanga Cooperative Weavers' Association of Gugai (Salem dist.), The Saurashtra Sabha of Madurai and Salem and the Sengunta Sabha at Madras. I would like to express my gratitude individually to Thiru Muthukumaraswami of the Maraimalai Adigal Library, Kavignar N. Kandasami of Rasipuram and Dr. Busnagi Rajannan for their great personal help. I am grateful to Yuchido Norihiko (Professor of Japanese at Jawaharlal Nehru University) for putting me in touch with the literature on the Saurashtra caste and to Mr. T.J. Ayyan of the Saurashtra Community for his information on the folk lore of the Pattunulkaran.

I wish to express my deep gratitude and thanks to my brother-in-law, Mr. N.S. Mani, for his ready help and kindness in going through the chapters and helping me with the thesis. Specific help on any particular point has been acknowledged in the foot-notes.
