ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many people have provided advice, encouragement, guidance and other kind of support. I am delighted to express gratitude to my research guide Dr. Ram A. Malu, Principal, R.A. Art, Shri M. K. Comm. And Shri S. R. Rathi Science College, Washim; I am greatly indebted for his invaluable guidance during this research work. To my experience I found he has personal knowledge of endless technical talent. He always had encouraged and developed confidence in me, consequently I kept working on research consistently, without his interest, enthusiastic support and guidance this thesis would not have appeared.

I am very much indebted to Mr. Subhashji Rathi, President, and Mr. Rajendraji Somani Secretary, Rajasthan Education Society, Washim for all their supports, encouragement, permission and unstinting help in providing enriched laboratory with expensive facilities.

I express my deep feelings of gratitude to Dr. M. V. S. S. S. Dhanapathi, (Retd. Principal) confirming and/or correcting identifications of rotifers, or for commenting on keys and text and invaluable advice. He is the only authority in the world of rotifers and made me acquainted to it.

My grateful thanks go to Prof. Dr. K. M. Kulkarni, Jt. Director, Higher Education, Pune, for his constant encouragement and his sympathetic attitude towards me.

Dr. M. S. Kodarkar, know very difficulties of workers in the field of Limnology and he has a keen involvement in the field of conservation, management and Hydrobiological studies of Lakes in India. He made me abreast with the technical knowledge of Limnology and encouraged to work on Lonar lake. I extend my grateful thanks to him for particularly providing desired literature on zooplanktons and their identification keys, Hydrobiology, Journals of IAAB, and related reprints.
I am gratefully acknowledge the support and encouragement provided by Mr. C. V. Thakur, Retd. Asstt. Conservator of Forest, Buldana and Mrs. Mangalatai C. Thakur not only for providing technical information but also for giving his invaluable comments, suggestions and advice based on their long-standing experience during the study.

I express my gratitude to Prof. B.D. Toshniwal, Vice-Principal of my college for his constant encouragement with great zeal and enthusiasm.

Several other colleagues and research fellows have helped me a lot. In this context the encouragement by Mr. V. R. Bhone, Dr. S. L. Sarambekar, Dr. S. D. Katore, Prof. Lalit Kabra, Prof. S. P. I am especially grateful and indebted to Mrs. Surajkiran Mafu, for encouragements and Ku. Bharti, Ku. Geeta, Ku. Neeta Mafu for consideration and patience shown by bearing my visits, disturbance and inconvenience with smiling face.
I am thankful to Mr. Padmakar Ingle, Librarian for pertinent supply of literature in the form of journals, and all other library facilities.

I am thankful to my subordinates and technical hands in my department, P. S. Gaikwad, A. K. Deshmukh, Ashok Chavan and Ghanshyam Chavan for their assistance in various ways.

Besides these, there have been several other individuals and friends who have accompanied me and have discussed important issues. Although, it is not possible to me to mention all of them by name, I have privilege to express my gratitude to all of them who directly or indirectly helped me with this regard.

No words to express about gratitudes towards my beloved parents, father Shri Shaligram and mother Sau. Kasabai, uncle Bansidhar Dabhade and aunt Sau. Dwarka B. Dabhade for their pain-staking efforts for my education.

My wife Mrs. Lalita have taken lots of efforts not only in proof readings but bear me with patienions and without any kind of hesitation and supported my interest to keep working consistantly.

It is not an exaggeration but I must mention here the great help provided by my kids Master Jayesh and Kumari Harsha to the level of a technicians while proceeding the computer graphics and page designing, without their help it could not be possible for me to workout the composition of thesis in my house.
