ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, my gratitude to the Almighty for granting me opportunity and strength to complete my thesis and realise my dream. The present thesis could not have been possible without the active involvement and guidance of my supervisor Dr. Aparna Bhatia, Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar who went out of the way to help me with her invaluable guidance and moral support. She spared her precious time to motivate and encourage me during my research and I will always remain grateful to her for showing me the right path at every step.

I am thankful to Dr Lakhwinder Singh Kang, Professor and Head, Department of Commerce for providing me the necessary infrastructural support. I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Balwinder Singh former head for his moral support and guidance. I am equally grateful to (Late) Dr. Subhash Chander for his sincere help especially in the initial stages of my research work.

My sincere thanks are also due to Dr. Fadzlan Sufian, Professor, IIUM Institute of Islamic Banking and Finance, Malaysia, who with his expertise helped me in learning Data Envelopment Analysis (DEA) technique used in my study.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Mr. Sandeep Mahajan, Assistant General Manager, Financial Markets Operations Department, Central Office, Mumbai, for providing me data on various Scheduled Commercial Banks which enabled me to overcome various difficulties during my research work.

I further wish to acknowledge my deep sense of gratitude for Dr. Amit Srivastava, Jaypee University of Information Technology, Waknaghat, Himachal Pradesh, Dr. S Chandrasekhar, Indira Gandhi Institute of Development Research, Mumbai, Dr. Suparn Kumar Sharma, Shri Mata Vaishno Devi University, Kakryal, Jammu and Kashmir and Dr. Ajay Chauhan, Institute of Management and Technology, Ghaziabad for their enlightening lecturers during workshops which helped me understand various analytical tools and resolve several issues during my research.

I would like to thank the staff of Bhai Gurdas Library, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar and Departmental Library for providing precious information for my research.
Thanks are also due to all my dear friends who supported and helped me. I cherish their friendship I had and take this opportunity to thank each one of them.

Last but not the least, special thanks to my family, especially my parents for their continuous support which kept me focused and motivated. I owe a special word of thanks and appreciation for my dearest brother Rishabh Mahendru for being there for me through thick and thin.

Dated

(Megha)