BIBLIOGRAPHY

CHAPTER-2

32. ACI Committee 544. 1988. Design Considerations for Steel Fibre Reinforced Concrete (ACI 544.4R-88).Manual of Concrete Practice, Part 5, American Concrete Institute, Detroit, MI, 18 p.

43. Cresson, L., Improved manufacture of rubber-road-acting, rubber-flooring, rubber-tining, or other rubber lining, British patent 191,474, January 1923,

45. Griffiths L.H floor surfacing for food processing plants, food manufacture Vol.26 No9,1951 ppt 369-372

49. Chen FB. Synthetic Polyisoprene Latex, Presented at the International Latex Conference, 2005; Charlotte, North Carolina

52. JETRO 1994, Removal of Protein from Natural Rubber Latex.

68. S. L. Mak and A. Lu. 1994. Engineering Properties of High-Performance Concrete Containing Blast Furnace Slag Under 'In-Situ' Moisture and Temperature Conditions. Proceedings of ACI International Conference, held November 15-18, 1994, Singapore; Ed. by V.M. Malhotra; American Concrete Institute, Detroit, MI, pp 159-175. (ACI SP-149)

86. Wallace, M., "Overlaying Decks with LMC", Concrete Construction, December 1987, pp. 1027-1033

High Strength Concrete. ASTM Special Technical Publication, No. 1061, pp. 129-144.

94. M. Baalbaki and P-C. Aitcin. 1994. Cement/Superplasticizer/Air-Entraining Agent Compatibility. Superplasticizers and Other Chemical Admixtures in Concrete. Proceedings of the Fourth CANMET/ACI International Conference on Superplasticizers and Other Chemical Admixtures in Concrete, Montreal, Canada; Ed. by V. M. Malhotra; American Concrete Institute, Detroit, MI, pp. 47-62. (ACI SP-148)

International Conference on Blended Cements in Construction, held Sep 9-12, 1991 at the University of Sheffield, UK; Ed. by R. N. Swamy; Elsevier Applied Science, London, pp. 293-301.

CHAPTER-5

