REFERENCES

India, Information and Broadcasting Ministry, Government of India, 2002.

Kashyap, Purnima, Starting right : Action research on infant feeding and child care, World Food Programme (WFB), New Delhi, India, 1994.

Thomas, Ducan., Frankenberg, Eleizabath.(2002): Health nutrition and prosperity: a microeconomic perspective. *Bulletin World Health

Turner, D: Handbook of Diet Therapy. University of Chicago Press, Chicago, 1970.

Vaid Sumati and Laila Khalid Inter generational attitude (mothers & daughters) towards education and employment. Anthropologist 7(3): 165-168.

Vashist, B.K. and Rana, R.K.: Education, fertility and work participation of women. (In): Women’s contribution to India’s economic and social development. (Ed.) Mahajan, V.S., *Deep and Deep Publication, New Delhi, Vidhya, K. and Kamal, G. Nath. (2000): Role of information education and communication in control of iron deficiency anemia, XXXIII Annual Meeting, Scientific Programmes and Abstract, Nutrition Society of India pp 58.

Wadia, A.B. (1984): The family planning programme in India: The non-

Wanda, M., Kozewski, and Mary K.V.U., (1996): Factors that influence the food consumption behavior and nutritional adequacy of college women. *J.

Wang, W., Popkin, B. and Zhai, F. (1998): The nutritional status and dietary 908-916.

Warthigton, Robes B. and Williams, S.R.): Nutrition in pregnancy and

* * * * * * *