CONTENTS

Acknowledgements .................................................

Introduction ......................................................

Part One
The History of Railways in India

Chapter I: The Period of Guaranteed Companies... 12

Chapter II: The Period of State Enterprise (1869 to 1882) ................ 30
Attempts of forming independent companies - An unexpected deviation - Irrigation versus Railways - Principles of State construction policy - Rationale of the new principles - Lord Hartington's policy - Conclusion.

Chapter III: The Period of State and Private Construction (1882 to 1920) ........ 47

Chapter IV: The Evolution of Railway Policy and Development (1921 to 1947) ...... 71
Introduction - The Acworth Committee, 1921 - The question of management - The Railway Finance Committee and the Retrenchment Committee - The period of Great Depression - The Wedgwood Committee, 1937 - The road rail competition - Position and finances of railways during World War II - Cessation of hostilities.

Chapter V: The Development of Railways in the Post-Independence Period

Introductory - The past role - Immediate problems - Effects of Partition - The Indian Railway Enquiry Committee, (The Kunzru Committee), 1947 - Financial Results - Expansion - Regrouping of Railways - The First Five Year Plan - Conclusion.

Part Two

The Problems of Railways in India

Chapter VI: Separation of the Railway Budget from the General Finances

Chapter VII: The History of Railway Management in India

Early State Control of Railways - Establishment of the Railway Board - The Mackay Committee, 1907 -
- Failure in the working of the Railway Board - State management
  The Wedgwood Committee, 1937 -
  The Kunzru Committee, 1947 - Statutory Railway Authority - Divisional versus Departmental Organisation.

Chapter VIII: The Problem of Railway Gauges...... 196

A country of multiple gauges - A start with 5' 6" gauge - Break in the policy of uniform gauge in 1863
- A change in the gauge policy, -
  1869 - 'The battle of the gauges on the Punjab and the Frontier lines'
- Reinstatement of the broad gauge
- The predominance of the broad gauge
- The Agra-Gwalior broad gauge line - The Ahmedabad-Ajmer gauge question - Government's policy of advancing broad gauge system by 1890 - The laissez-faire attitude
- A new feature, 2 1/2 feet and 2 feet gauges - Sir T. Robertson's Report - The Acworth Committee, 1921 - Situation today -

Chapter IX: The Railway Rates Policy: Early History ...................... 221

Introductory - Early History -
Classification of goods in 1867 -
Block Rates - Schedules revised in 1910 and 1922 - Railway rates and the First World War - The Railway Rates Advisory Committee - The Railway Rates Tribunal - The need for a revised classification -
Passenger fares - Goods traffic rates between 1930 and 1940 -
Railway rates and indigenous trade and industries - Observations of the Wedgwood Committee, 1937 -

Chapter X: The Railway Rates Policy: Recent Developments..................... 255

The rates during and after the Second World War - Reform of the rate struc-
Chapter XI: Some Current Railway Problems

- Introductory - Adequacy of Railway services - Operational efficiency
- Programme of rehabilitation - Rationalisation in railway workshops
- The Second Five Year Plan - Road Transport versus Railway Transport
- Problem of Rail Sea Coordination
- Problem of overcrowding in suburban trains - Electrification of railways - Railway research - Ticketless travel - Public Relations - Bribery and Corruption (Kripalani Committee's Report)
- Conclusion.

Appendix A: Statistical Table showing mileage and capital outlay of Indian Railways...

Appendix B: Bibliography