CONTENTS

List of Tables v-viii
List of Figures ix
List of Maps ix

Chapter 1 Introduction 1-8
1.1 Background of the study 5
1.2 Objectives and Hypothesis 6
1.3 Chapter scheme 8

Chapter 2 Origin and development of wage theories 9-62
2.1 Origin of the studies on wages 11
2.1.1 Mercantilist school and its wage policy 12
2.1.2 Physiocrats and wage question 15
2.1.3 Classical economists and wage theories 18
2.1.3.1 Smith and regional differences in wage rates 23
2.1.3.2 David Ricardo and Wage theory 26
2.1.3.3 Ricardo and Regional differences in wages 27
2.2 Karl Marx and Wage 30
2.2.1 Contents in the value of labour power 32
2.2.2 Marx and Regional differences in wage 37
2.3 Neo-Classical School of thought and wage 38
2.3.1 Institutional Theories 43
2.3.2 Post-modernism and agricultural labour 44
2.4 Studies on wage determination in India 45
2.4.1 Studies on the trend in real and money wage rates 49
2.5 Studies on agricultural wages in the Kerala context 53
2.6 Theoretical framework 57

Chapter 3 Sample design and locale of the study 63-84
3.1 Sampling design 64
3.2 Characteristics of sample villages 74
3.2.1 Venganoor Grama Panchayat: High wage Zone in Travancore 74
3.2.2 Santhanppara Grama Panchayat: Low wage Zone in Travancore 76
3.2.3 Tavanoore Grama Panchayat: High wage zone in the Malabar region 79
3.2.4 Mananthavady Grama Panchayat: Low wage zone in Malabar region 82

Chapter 4 Evolution and development of agrarian structure and cropping pattern in Kerala 85-125
4.1 Socio-economic formations in Kerala 87
4.1.1 Aboriginals in Kerala 87
4.1.2 Historical development of socio-economic formations
4.2 Evolution of agrarian relations and cropping pattern in Kerala
4.2.1 Evolution of agrarian relations
4.2.2 Agrarian structure in Malabar after the colonial invasion
4.2.3 Agrarian relations in Travancore and Cochin
4.3 Trends in area, production, productivity of farm products and earning stability
4.3.1 Trends in agricultural income
4.3.2 Trends in area, production and productivity
4.3.3 Income stability in agriculture
4.4 Conclusion

Chapter 5. Agricultural labourers and labour market characteristics in Kerala
5.1 Trends in work participation rate and agriculture dependent population
5.1.1 Work participation rate
5.1.2 Work participation rate-A district-wise analysis
5.1.3 Trends in agriculture dependent population
5.2 Size and earning strength of agricultural labour households
5.2.1 Family size and Earning strength
5.2.2 Earning strength
5.2.3 Trends in wage earners among agricultural labour households
5.2.4 Indebtedness of agricultural labour households
5.2.5 Land holding structure of agriculture labour households
5.2.6 Trends in wage rate
5.2.7 Inter-relationship between different characteristics of the labour market
5.3 Conclusion

Chapter 6 Labour struggle and the state policies on agricultural labourers
6.1. The state and its policies on labour and wage
6.1.1 Political economy of labour regulations: A historical overview
6.2 Struggle and resistance of agricultural labourers in Kerala
6.2.1 Agricultural Labourers' struggles and resistance in Travancore upto 1957
6.2.2 Peasant struggle in Malabar up to 1956
6.2.3 Agricultural labour struggle after the formation
| 9.2.3. | expenditure class |
| 9.2.3.1. | Travancore 292 |
| 9.2.3.2. | Malabar 294 |
| 9.2.4. | Possession of consumer durables 296 |
| 9.2.5. | Basic amenities of life 298 |
| 9.2.6. | Housing pattern: High wage zones 301 |
| 9.2.7. | Secondary occupation of households 303 |
| 9.2.8. | Distribution of land in sample villages 305 |
| 9.3. | Development of agriculture and employment in sample villages 310 |
| 9.3.1. | Employment structure in Travancore 312 |
| 9.3.2. | Employment structure in Malabar 313 |
| 9.3.3. | Days of employment 315 |
| 9.3.4. | Development of agriculture 318 |
| 9.4. | Conclusion 320 |

Chapter 10

Summary and Conclusions 323-338

| 10.1. | Outline of the study 324 |
| 10.2. | Evolution of agrarian relations and cropping pattern in Kerala 326 |
| 10.3. | State and labour 327 |
| 10.4. | Labour market in Kerala and its specificities 329 |
| 10.5. | Trend and pattern of wage movements 330 |
| 10.6. | Tenancy, employment and wages 332 |
| 10.7. | Explanation for inter-district wage differentials 333 |
| 10.8. | Policy implications of the study 336 |

References 339-353

Appendix i-xi