ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Professor Sudesh Nangia under whose insightful guidance I have been able to complete this thesis in time. She not only enabled me to evolve and shape my ideas regarding the subject of my research but also taught me the basic rudiments of research and to get it in shape. I sincerely acknowledge her patience with which she read through the details of my immature work and corrected it several times by taking keen interest in my work and spared all the time that I needed for discussions, queries and instruction, from her busy academic and personal schedule. I owe much debt to her for all these supports that I cannot pay in words.

I am obliged to Professor Murali Dhar Vemuri who trained me in advanced demographic technique during the course work and I am grateful to Professor PM Kulkarni for his suggestion in statistical problems and for a concrete comment in the Ph.D. pre-submission. I am thankful to Mr. K. Verghese Mr. Selvum, and Ms. Sis Kaur who helped me in computer, statistical and map-making work. I would also like to thank library staff and administrative staff for their cooperation in their respective field.

My special acknowledgement goes to Tribhuvan University for providing me study leave to pursue this research and to the University Grants Commission for granting me partial financial assistance. I am grateful to UNFPA-CST Office, especially to Dr. Bhanu Niraula, Asst. Country Representative for providing me assistance in the fieldwork. In this regard, I am grateful to Professor Bal Kumar KC (Chief, Central Department for Population Studies) who had recommended me to UNFP-CST for financial assistance. I am also grateful to Dr Bidhya Bir Kansakar, Dr Pushpa Lal Joshi, Dr. Gajananda Agrawal, Dr. Prakash Dev Panta, Dr. Laxmi Bilas Acharya, Mr. Dharma Prasad Koirala, Mr. Yogendra Gurung, Mr. Uddhav Sigdel and Mr. Prakash Dhungana, who helped me in my research work. My heartfelt thanks also goes to my colleagues Mrs. Anjeela Pradhan, Mrs. Sudha Shrestha, Mrs. Bhuwan Pant, Mrs. Bindu Singh, Mrs. Savitri Gurung, Mrs. Laxmi Shrestha and Mrs. Srijana Shrestha who were supportive all the time and cheering me up for my Ph.D. I am thankful to all the respondents of the survey who have answered all the questions patiently and all enumerators who collected data for me.
Mrs. Deo Kumari Gurung, Mr. Govinda Subedi, Mr. Udhab Pyakurel, Mrs. Indra Adhikary and Mrs. Laxmi Pandey deserve my special thanks, who were always there beside me when I needed them most. Similarly, I am also thankful to Mr. Narayan, Mr. Hari Rokka, Dr. Lal Rapacha, Dr. Lekha Nath Bhattarai, Dr. CB Budhathoky, Mr. Surendra Giri and Mr. Vikash Kumar K.C. who provided me social and moral support during my stay in JNU.

I am also very much grateful to my hostel mates – Anita, Mohita, Alefyah, Radha, Chon and Geeta and my colleagues – Abhay and Sadananda who were very cooperative and helped me whenever I needed their help.

I am deeply indebted to my friends Ms. Shanta Rai and Ms. Nirmala Uprety, my sister Mrs. Menuka Rai, sister-in-law Mrs. Sunita Rai, for helping me in field survey and for other valuable support that I had got from them during my research. I am also very much grateful to my brother Mr. Kishor Joshi who helped me in entering the data.

I am also deeply indebted to my brother Mr. Dammar Rai who was very much supportive and the constant source of inspiration for me to pursue and complete this research in time. Similarly, I am very much grateful to my sister Ms. Kalika Rai, brother Mr. Bhawani Prasad Rai and sister-in-law Mrs. Laxmi Rai who had taken the responsibility of the family and made me feel free and comfortable all the time, which helped me a lot in continuing my research work smoothly. I am also thankful to my brother Aita Sing Rai, sister-in-law Mrs. Sabita Rai and brother Devi Prasad Rai and other family members.

At the end, I am very much indebted to my parents, who taught me to dream big, and were constant source of support throughout my work: though, I missed my father during my Ph.D.
