Acknowledgements

At the outset, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my revered Guru Professor Kapil Kapoor for his unstinted support, timely advice and keen interest in guiding this study to fruition. My debt to Professor Kapoor goes far beyond his supervision of my thesis.

To Professor H.S.Gill, I owe a special debt of gratitude for furnishing me with several insightful ideas concerning literary signification. He has been a constant source of inspiration for my academic pursuits. I would also like to acknowledge gratefully the help and encouragement which I have received from all my teachers at the Centre of Linguistics & English during my student career at the Jawaharlal Nehru University.

It is a pleasure to put on record my indebtedness to Professor H.C. Narang who has provided the necessary motivation and without his invaluable help this work would not have been completed.

In addition, I would also like to thank numerous colleagues, friends and scholars at different institutions who have shown personal interest in my academic pursuits and with whom over the past few years I have had stimulating discussions which have helped to clarify my thoughts on various theoretical issues discussed in this thesis. My sincere thanks must go to the following: Dr. A.R. Kelkar, Dr. B.V. Nemade, Dr. Franson D. Manjali, Dr. L.M. Khubchandani, Dr. Milind Malshe, Dr. Nitin Mehta, Dr. Probal Dasgupta, Dr. R.C. Cowsik, late Dr. R.N. Srivastava, Dr. S.S. Antarkar and Dr. Yasmeen Lukmani. My thanks and apologies to those I have inadvertently omitted.
I am grateful to the library staff of the Jawaharlal Nehru University, the University of Delhi, the University of Mumbai, the Central Institute of English & Foreign Languages (Hyderabad), the Central University of Hyderabad and the American Centre Libraries at Delhi and Mumbai for their help and cooperation.

I must also acknowledge my special debt to my friends Khurshid and Meenakshi who with their warmth and affection, have encouraged me to complete this work.

Lastly I would like to express my profound gratitude to my parents under whose guidance I have been learning how to take a leap from the domain of knowledge to the domain of wisdom.

New Delhi

Biswamohan Pradhan