It is undoubtedly a ‘dream come true’ situation of my life when I have accomplished the feat of completing my research work after moving forward through the ups and downs related to this uphill task. But at this juncture of success, it would be absolutely unfair on my part if I do not remember and thank, from the deepest core of my heart, those personalities who have come forward lending their whole-hearted support and favour without which my achievement would never be possible.

At this moment of accomplishment, first of all, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my mentor and guide Prof. Joydev Chattopadhyay of Indian Statistical Institute, Kolkata, for his inspiration, continuous support and valuable advice. I have been amazingly fortunate to have him as an advisor who was always instrumental in providing me with all sorts of assistance, co-operation and sharing novel and brilliant ideas which paved my way forwards success. I shall remain ever-respectful to a great and towering personality like him.

I would also like to offer my heart-felt thanks to my co-supervisor Prof. Susmita Sarkar of Calcutta University, Kolkata, who had lent her helping hand to provide me the most crucial assistance and essential backup required for the completion of my Ph.D. work.

I shall remain ever-grateful to Dr. Sabyasachi Bhattacharya of Indian Statistical Institute, Kolkata, for his most valuable advice and necessary guidance which enabled me to fulfil my long-cherished dream of becoming a research scholar.

I shall also be thankful to Dr. Sourav Kumar Sasmal for his cordial co-operation and help during the first paper of the said Ph.D. work. The road to my Ph.D was started under your training. Thank you for providing me a very good training to start my work in this field.

I shall never forget the role played by Dr. Sudip Samanta whose practical suggestions and training provide me with all the necessary knowledge to progress in this field of my research. I find no words to express my gratitude to him and offer my heartiest thanks for infusing strength and confidence which were essential for this achievement.

I am extremely indebted to my research collaborators Santanu Biswas and Nikhil Pal, who helped me to do research in this field.

I am thankful to all my lab-mates i.e. Tridip da, Sourav da, Soumalyada, Biman, Bapi da, Joydeep da, Amiya da, Dibyendu, Abhisek, Piyush, Avik, Amar, Pankaj, Indrajit, Swarnendu, Sayani, Farhana, Santoshda, Nikhileshda, Kakalidi and Tan-mayda for their heartiest co-operation genial support.

At the time of reaching this peak of success, it would be improper to forget the contribution of some individuals such as my childhood mathematics teacher Late Mr. Sudhanshu Karmakar, Mr. Abani Kumar Ghosh, Late Mr. Sankar Prasad Sarkar whose constant nourishment filled myself with confidence when I started my education in the earlier stage of my life.

I can never forget the importance of Dr. Nanigopal Mandal in my life who had been instrumental in making my contact with Prof. Joydev Chattopadhyay for being my supervisor.

I shall be ever-grateful to Prof. Uttam Bandopadhyay who gave me the encouragement and inspired me to do my Ph.D. from ISI Kolkata. Without his active support I would never stand in the position where I am now.

Last but not the least, I shall recall my emotional attachment to my Parents and my uncle who had always played a vital role in building up my career.
