Abdollah, M.M.S. (2008). Multiple ways to smart; Gardner’s theory of multiple intelligences and its educational implications in English teaching and oral communication. TESOL (Sept, 20.08), 23(3), 1-41.

Dare, M. (1997). Using Multiple Intelligences, Co-operative learning and higher order thinking skills to improve the behavior of At-Risk-students (ERIC Document Reproduction Service no:ED411954)

Demirel, O. (1998). The implementation of Multiple Intelligences in primary education. VII. National Educational Sciences Congress Konya; Seluck University Education, Faculty Publications

Diaz –Lefebvre, R.,(2004) .Multiple Intelligences ,learning for understanding and creative assessment ; Some pieces to the puzzle of learning Teachers College Record ,106(1),49-57.

Enhancing Alliances with a Focus on strength, A journal of Psychotherapy integration, PsycINFO Database Record © 2015APA

Gibson, N.(2008). Effect of adding drill and practices using Multiple Intelligences with connected maths project on Mathematical Achievement for 6\textsuperscript{th} grade students.(ERIC Document Reproduction Service No:EJ420327

Hickey, G. (2004). Can I pick more than one project? Case studies of five teachers who used MI-based instructional planning Teachers College Record, 106(1), 77-86.

James,M.(1983).The concept of Race in the history of social Psychology (ERIC Document reproduction Service No.ED239147).

Medine Baran and A. Kadir Maskan (2011) Investigating Multiple Intelligence Fields of 11th Grade Students with Respect to Some Variables and Physics Achievement. Dicle University, Diyarbakır, Turkey.

Mubeenakhan (2012). A comparative study of academic stress among high school students of CBSE and up Board under grading system. A research paper on asadalikhans blog, asadalikhans.blogspot.com/2012/08

Shahzada, G., (2013) Relationship between students personality traits and their academic achievement in Khyber, educational journal Pakistan: Vol3. No2

www.mohenjodaro.net/index.html 1995