generated where itself the philosophy and it is these that perhaps continue to live and inspire.

***

Bibliography

2. Atmaprana Pravrajika, Sister Nivedita: of Ramakrishna – Vivekananda, Kolkata:

3. Aurobindo Sri, Autobiographical Notes & Other Writings of Historical Interest,

   Aurobindo Ashram, 7th imp 2005.

8. Aurobindo Sri, The Renaissance in India & Other Essays on Indian Culture,

98. Sanyal Indrani, ‘What it is to be Educated? In the Light of Sri Aurobindo’s Philosophy’ in Sanyal Indrani & Roy Krishna edited Understanding Thoughts of Sri Aurobindo, Kolkata: Centre for Sri Aurobindo Studies, Jadavpur University, 2007.

Journals

Madhabendra Nath Mitra edited reprint of The Dawn volumes, Kolkata: Jadavpur University & National Council of Education, Bengal:

3. The Dawn, September 1900, vol.4

Others

Archival Sources

1. New India Files, Microfilm Copies, National Library of India, Kolkata.

Complete Works of Sri Aurobindo (CWSA)

Collected Works of The Mother (CWM)

Websites

• The Informal Education Archives at http://www.infed.org/archives/e-texts/e-dew-pc.htm

Encyclopedia