ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I owe all of my thankfulness to the existence of the Almighty and the entities in which His munificence is reflected for the completion of this work.

My heartfelt thankfulness is for my supervisor, Dr. Pitabas Pradhan. His presence is a reason of encouragement, inspiration, learning and discipline. His continuous support, invaluable feedback and positive criticism made me sail through.

I sincerely thank Prof. Nighat Ahmad, Director, Advanced Centre for Women’s Studies, for her genuine concern and encouragement. I humbly wish to thank Dr. Shehroz Alam Rizvi, Deputy Director of the Advanced Centre for Women’s Studies, for his concern that helped me a lot during my research.

The teachers at the Advanced Centre for Women’s Studies are a source of moral strength, and their mere presence kept me going, the non-teaching staff at the Advanced Centre for Women’s Studies deserves mention because of their support.

Prof. M. Shafey Kidwai from the Department of Mass Communication has helped with his valuable insights and acumen.

I sincerely thank members of the library of the National Archives of India, Pune and Film & Television Institute of India, Pune for their sincere assistance.

My friends, their prayers, their presence, and their worth in my life are one of the divine blessings. I want to thank all my friends for their support and inputs throughout the course of this journey. I would specially like to thank Mr. Avneesh Kumar and Mr. Obaidu Rahman for their help.

It was the out of the way support, love and determination of my father, Prof. Syed Liyaqat Moini and my mother, Dr. Nuzhat Moini, that this thesis could actually come into shape. My In-laws have been a source for constant support and guidance and helped with support and love during the crucial time of this study.

My thanks also go out to my husband for his unconditional support and efforts. I also wish to mention my daughter, Ayza whose shenanigans and smiles kept me rejuvenated.
