ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many personalities have helped me in writing this thesis, and I owe my debt to all of them. First of all I express my deepest gratitude to my supervisor, Prof. I.N. Mukherji, whose vision as well constant encouragement has been my greatest source of inspiration and motivation. His kindest co-operation, sympathetic understanding and faith in me mostly made the completion of this work possible.

I am also indebted to all faculties of Centre for South, Central, Southeast Asia and Southwest Pacific Studies, School of International Studies for their co-operation.

I am extremely grateful to ACTIONAID India, which has granted me liberal assistance to complete this research, and without its aid I would have been in a serious financial crisis. I am grateful to Shri. Binu Thomas, Co-ordinator, The Policy & Advocacy Unit, ACTIONAID India.

I am also thankful to the library staff of Jawaharlal Nehru University, Ministry of Agriculture, Ministry of Food, NSSO, FAO, World Bank, Indian Institute of Public Administration (New Delhi), and Centre for Development Studies (Thiruvananthapuram) - all in India, and Ministry of Plan and Finance, Ministry of Plan Implementation, Ministry of Food, Department of Census and Statistics, Central Bank of Sri Lanka, Marga Institute, University of Colombo, IIMI, FAO, and World Bank in Sri Lanka. All of them have supplied me with the necessary material and extended full co-operation.

I am thankful to the members of Centre for South, Central, Southeast Asia and Southwest Pacific Studies, School of International Studies.

I am also indebted to many others who constantly encouraged me in my academic pursuits especially Dr. Ranaweera Banda, Dr. Santhapparaj, Chandramani, Rajib, Praful and Abul. Besides, I express my gratitude to my friends for their motivation during the crucial days of drafting this thesis. I am indebted to Karthick, Easwar, Tulshi, Kailash and Alfred, for their constant encouragement during the course of this research. Rajkumar not only encourage me but also readily agreed to edit the manuscript.
Finally, no words are sufficient to express my deep sense of gratitude to my wife and daughter for their love and inspiration.
