ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My heart felt gratitude to my guide Dr. N.C. Kar for his involvement and guidance in putting this vast base of knowledge into a concrete analytical work. His unparalleled articulation in the process of analysis has made my work much easier. I consider this as an opportunity for expressing my admiration for him. Besides the guidance it is also a matter of pride to be associated with a simple hearted, plain speaking individual like him since last 26 years.

Dr. S.C. Sahoo, my Professor and mentor inspired and gave valuable insight for bringing out this synthesis to light. He also reviewed the report thoroughly. It is time to show my reverence to him.

The following researchers and practitioners deserve my special thanks for the contribution made by them to enrich my research paper:

1. Mr. Bismaya Mohapatra for setting the questionnaire, providing lot of practical information and facilitating my survey work.
2. Mr. Umakanta Mishra for guiding me in the Statistical Analysis
3. Mr. Manoj Kumar Singh for helping me in the Statistical Analysis.
4. Mr. Dilip Singh Thakur for all the design and organization of the thesis
5. Trigmanshu Sekhar Patra, Pravas Kumar Sahoo, Jyoti Ranjan Mohanty for my students for their relentless efforts during editing and printing of my thesis

The facilitators of microfinance (Heads of the Microfinance Institutions, Bankers, Government Officials, and Heads of NGOs) also deserve my gratitude for patiently sharing their views with me (On an average an interview was three hours duration). The enthusiasm of the beneficiaries to explain everything possible was a pill of inspiration to carry on my work.

Last but not the least; I consider it as a privilege to admire my wife for her naive involvement in this process, and my son for all the secretarial work and motivation, which is beyond his age.
