References

REFERENCES

References

Booth, J., Boyland., and Sims, P., (1961) An enzyme from rat liver catalyzing conjugations with glutathione, Biochem. J., 79, 516

References

References

References

Hayes, J.D and Mantle, T.J. (1986b) Use of immuno-blot techniques to discriminate between the glutathione S-transferases Yf, Yk, Ya, Yn/Yb, and Yc subunits and to study their distribution in extra-hepatic tissues. Evidenced for three immunochemically distinct groups of transferases in the rat, Biochem. J., 238, 779-788.

References

References

References

Koo, P., Nagai, M. K. and Faber, E., Multiple sites of control of glutathione s transferase P1-1 in rat liver, J. Biol. Chem., 269, 14601-14606.

References

References

References

cooperativity between two TPA responsive elements in undifferentiated F9 embryonic stem cells, EMBO J., 9, 1131-1135.

Ostlund Farrants, AK, Meyer, D.J., Coles, B., Southan, C., Aitken, A., transferase subunit by using reverse-phase high-pressure liquid

Oyamado, M., Dempo, K., Fujimoto, Y., Takahashi, H., Satoh, M.I., Mori, M., occurrence of placental GST-positive foci in the liver of LEC rats, Jpn. J. Cancer Res. (Gann), 79, 5.

Peatterson, D (1993) Identification of class-Mu glutathione transferase genes GST M1-GST M5 on human chromosome 1p13, Am. J. Hum. Gent., 53, 220-233.

glycoprotein in colorectal carcinoma and normal mucosa, Gastroenterology., 103, 448-455

Pommier, Y. (1993) DNA topoisomerase I and II in cancer chemotherapy, update and prespectives, Cancer Chemother Pharmacol., 32, 103-105.
References

References

References

References
