ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

When I look back at this journey of doctoral program, there are many people who have helped me in one way or the other throughout this process. This thesis would not have been possible without their encouragement, support, patience and guidance. I am grateful to each one of them for helping me sail through this journey.

At the outset, a heartfelt thanks to my supervisor Dr. Geetika Tankha, for helping me develop as a researcher and scholar. I appreciate the lessons she taught me to navigate through this entire journey with her valuable suggestions. I would like to thank her also for giving me an opportunity for expanding my horizons as an educator. I have enriched a lot during this process personally and professionally.

Gracious thanks to my committee members Prof. V S Kulhar, Prof. Kusum Sharma, and Dr. Meenakshi Joshi for their valuable inputs. I would also like to thank Dr. Pooja Sharma and Dr. Kalpana Sharma for their unconditional support in the role of Ph.D. Coordinators.

A deep earnest thanks to my life partner Cdr (Dr.) Gurdaman Lal Sharma, without whom this journey would not have been possible. His constructive suggestions throughout this process were very helpful to sail through. He has been everything that I needed him to be; a motivator, a constructive critique, my sounding board, my shoulder to cry on, my counsellor, my stress-reliever, my teacher, and my pillar of strength. Even when I didn’t believe in myself, he believed in me. Thank you dear, for creating a wonderful environment to complete this journey. I am so fortunate to have someone like you in life as truly my better half.

A big thank you to my daughter Rhythm and son Dhairya for their constant support and encouragement which was a driving force for me. Their valuable suggestions and inputs in long discussions from a teenagers’ point of view helped me in having a clear insight about my work. Thank you both, for taking over and providing with delicious lunches and dinners, whenever I was busy with my work. I thank God for blessing me with wonderful children.

A special thanks to (Dr.) Brig. Surjit Singh Pabla for motivating me and showing the path to pursue Ph.D.
Among the special people who were instrumental in making this journey possible and need special mention are my mother-in-law Smt. Sudarshan, my mother Smt. Indu and father Sh. Kapil Dev, especially my father who is eagerly waiting to see my name as Dr. Jyotika. Their blessings and constant encouragement gave me energy to complete this journey which marks the beginning of a new era to become a good researcher. I am thankful to all the other family members for their constant encouragement through this endeavour.

Words cannot express how grateful I am to Dean FoA&L Prof. Mridul Shrivastav and law faculty Dr. Sony, Dr. Vijaylaxmi and Ms Sunita, for their constant support and understanding, during my stint with them. I would not have made it to this point without the support of my friends at psychology department, Dr. Charu, Dr. Kriti and Ms Evelyn. I am indeed grateful to senior administrators, other faculty members, office staff and well-wishers at Manipal University, Jaipur. A heartfelt thanks to Dr. Richa Mishra for all the help she offered whenever I required.

A special thanks to all the students, who have participated in this research; the teachers and school authorities, who allowed me to collect data by giving their valuable time. I would also like to thank my students of law and psychology department at MUJ who helped me to look at the subject from their perspective and transforming myself as an empathetic teacher.

Above all, I wish to thank the power in this universe called GOD for providing me with a beautiful world of faith, happiness and hope. I have learned so much throughout this Ph.D. process. I feel I have come out of this as a better person.

THANK YOU GOD.

Ms. Jyotika Sharma
