List of Tables

Table 3.1 Socio-demographic details of the four groups .................................................. 56
Table 4.1 Means and standard deviations for the four groups on perceived parenting .... 74
Table 4.1 Means and standard deviations for the four groups on hardiness and psychological wellbeing .................................................................................................................. 76
Table 4.3 Correlation of modes of perceived parenting styles with hardiness and factors of psychological well-being of rural adolescents (n = 150) ................................................................. 80
Table 4.4 Correlation of modes of perceived parenting styles with hardiness and factors of psychological well-being of urban adolescents (n = 150) ................................................................. 82
Table 4.5 Correlation of modes of perceived parenting style with hardiness and psychological well-being scales for male adolescents (n=150) ................................................................. 85
Table 4.6 Correlation of modes of perceived parenting style, hardiness and factors of psychological well-being of female adolescents (n=150) ................................................................. 87
Table 4.7 Correlation of modes of perceived parenting style, hardiness and factors of psychological well-being of adolescents (N=300) ................................................................. 90
Table 4.8 Mean, SD and One-Way ANOVA of four groups on perceived parenting styles. ........................................................................................................................................ 91
Table 4.8.1 Tukey HSD Group Comparisons on the Perceived Parenting Style of Rejection vs Acceptance ............................................................................................................. 92
Table 4.8.2 Tukey HSD Group Comparisons on the Perceived Parenting Style of Careless vs Protection .......................................................................................................................... 93
Table 4.8.3 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the Perceived Parenting Style of Neglect Vs Indulgence .......................................................................................................................... 94
Table 4.8.4 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the Perceived Parenting Style of Utopian Expectation Vs Realism .......................................................................................................... 95
Table 4.8.5 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the Perceived Parenting Style of Lenient Standard Vs Moralism

Table 4.8.6 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the Perceived Parenting Style of Freedom Vs Discipline

Table 4.8.7 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the Perceived Parenting Style of Faulty Role Expectation Vs Realistic Role

Table 4.9 Mean, SD and ANOVA analysis of four groups on Hardiness

Table 4.9.1 Tukey HSD Multiple Group Comparison on Hardiness

Table 4.10 Mean, SD and ANOVA analysis of Four groups on Psychological Well-Being

Table 4.10.1 Tukey HSD Group Comparisons on the PWB Factor of Autonomy

Table 4.10.2 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the PWB Factor of Environmental Mastery

Table 4.10.3 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the PWB Factor of Personal Growth

Table 4.10.4 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the PWB Factor of Purpose in Life

Table 4.10.5 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the PWB Factor of Positive Relation with Others

Table 4.10.6 Tukey HSD Group Comparison on the PWB Factor Self-Acceptance
List of Figures

Figure 3.1 Graphical representation of research progression path ........................................54

Figure 4.1 Graphical representation of sample classification ...........................................55

Figure 4.1 Graphical representation of mean scores of the groups on perceived parenting styles.................................................................................................................. 75

Figure 4.2 Graphical representation of mean scores of the groups on hardiness............ 76

Figure 4.3 Graphical representation of mean scores of the groups on psychological well-being...........................................................................................................................77