ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I thank God for my every breath and for destined me in my life to do this research project for the respectable degree.

I would ever remain grateful to our beloved professor, Dr.RM.Chidambaram, who was instrumental in getting me the permission from the university for venturing into this research project and without whose abundant help and ample guidance the completion of this thesis would have been a distant goal; I am very fortunate to have him as my supervisor and my heartfelt thanks to him.

I am thankful to my organisation, The Oriental Insurance Company Limited, the provider of my bread and butter, for according me its permission to pursue this study.

I profusely thank Mr.T.R.Sathyamoorthi, Manager (retired), The Oriental Insurance Company Limited, Regional office, Chennai, for his encouragement and support, all along in those budding years of my career, which laid in me the foundation for and arose my interest in the academic side... of insurance and for the many valuable discussions I had with him which enriched my knowledge.

I remember with thanks the help extended to me by Mr. G. A. Hariharaputhran, Assistant Manager (retired), The Oriental Insurance Company Limited, Regional office-I, Mumbai, in my efforts of acquiring the various annual reports of 'Oriental' and in my contacting many colleagues in various Divisional offices of 'Oriental' in Tamil Nadu and Pondicherry.

I thank all the colleague-friends from 25 Divisional offices of 'Oriental' in Tamil Nadu and Pondicherry, who were helpful in collecting the primary data by administering the interview schedules in their respective Divisional offices.

I am thankful to the Oriental Staff Training College, Faridabad, Haryana, for enabling me to go through various books and training course materials in their library.

I take this opportunity to thank Dr. K. C. Mishra, the Director, National Insurance Academy, Pune, for his kind permission to stay and use the facilities in the academy and Mr. S. B. Jog, Manager, General Administration, for facilitating my stay there. I would also like to convey my thanks to the Librarian and the Assistant there in the academy for helping me out in the library and for the faculty members, especially Dr. Steward Doss, Research Associate, for the useful discussion I had with him.

I remember with kindness the high level of co-operation extended to me by those interviewed employees and clients in the course of my collection of primary data and I convey my heartfelt thanks collectively to all of them.

Though I, myself, have typed most part of the thesis, the beautiful graphs and large tables in the Chapters II and III of this thesis are the handiwork of Mr. K. R. Sivakumar, working then with Sri Krishna Institute, Tiruchengode, who was very co-operative in executing to the minute details and I extend my thanks to him.

I will fail in my duty if I miss to say thanks to Mrs. Dr. RM. Chidambaram, for her polite and courteous responses to my numerous phone calls, which all I made to the professor’s home during all these years.

Dr. M. Ranganathan, (Professor and Head, Department of Commerce, Kandasamy Kandar College, Paramathi Velur), was the person who first mentioned to me the name of Dr. RM. Chidambaram, the right kind of person to approach with and though he ceased to exist in this world due to an ill fated road accident, the memory of my association with him would remain in my mind and my respects to him.

I would be thankful to all the kind-hearted persons – acquaintances, friends and relatives – who all wished me and even for having a thought in their minds that I should complete this thesis successfully.

Even if it is a golden lamp, it requires instigation, inducement. I fondly cherish the love and affection and support extended to me by my beloved wife, Alamelu Lakshmanan and children, Lena. Saravanand and Lena. Rajeswari, in executing this research project elegantly.