ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to....

Dr. C.N. Paramasivan, my supervisor and guide, for having accepted me as his student and for his untiring guidance with valuable ideas, constant encouragement and help without which I could never have completed this thesis.

Dr. Sujatha Narayanan, Deputy Director, for her excellent guidance and valuable ideas in carrying out DNA and sequencing work.

Dr. P.R. Narayanan, Director for having deputing me to undergo my post graduate degree and later permitting me to do part-time Ph.D programme and also for his encouragements throughout the period.

Prof. K. Dharmalingam, Madurai Kamaraj University, for permitting me to learn molecular biology techniques initially in his laboratory.

Dr. V. Kumaraswamy, HOD Immunology Department for providing me with all necessary facilities required for molecular part of my work.

Dr. G. Kubendiran, for his untiring help rendered in carrying out in vitro simulation experiments.

Dr. N. Selvakumar, Dr. Vanaja Kumar and Dr Ranjani Ramachandran for their constant support.

All staff in bacteriology department, particularly Mr. K.J. Ilampuranan, Mrs. Nalini Sundermohan, and Mrs. Jothi Segaran, for helping me in various stages, and all staff of the culture, media section and wash – up section for having helped me during my research work.
Mr. P. Venkatraman, former STO of bacteriology department for his help and constant encouragement during the early stages of my research work.

Dr. P. Venkatasan and Mrs. Fathima Rahman for their valuable help in analyzing data and Mr. P.R. Somasundaram former Head of the Statistics Department for his useful suggestions while writing this thesis.

Ph.D students especially Mr. V. Aravind and Miss. G. Radha for their valuable suggestions and help during my DNA work and Mrs. C. Suganthi for her help in carrying out sequencing work in the Immunology department.

The Library staff especially Mr. Rathna Sabhapathy for his help in literature survey.

HODs of all departments of TRC for their help and co-operation, whenever required.

Finally my husband for instilling self-confidence in me and supporting me in all situations, and my children for their generous support on all times.