ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It was an extraordinary pathway to embark on accomplishing a Doctoral Thesis in the novel field of counselling psychology on the family size and birth order effects on college students. The work presented in this meticulous expedition would not have been possible without my close association with many people who were always there when I needed them the most. I take this opportunity to acknowledge them and extend my sincere gratitude for helping me make this Ph.D. thesis a possibility.

I would like to start with the person who made the biggest difference in my life, my mentor, Dr. Sudha Banth, Reader, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. She has been there, continuously inspiring every bit of me towards the new possibilities in life. Her creative ideas, thought provoking discussions and comprehensive understanding helped me sail through the fumblings I came across. She has always been there for me with her motherly hand whenever I needed it the most. Her constant guidance, cooperation and support has always kept me going ahead.

My special words of thanks should also go to the chairperson, Dr. Meena Sehgal, for being a wonderful teacher, ever so kind, helpful and accommodating. I express my heart-felt gratitude to the office and laboratory staff for their constant support and assistance during the course of my thesis. My sincere thanks to the statistician, Dr. Saroj Rana for he was always there with his scientific inputs and I could always look back on him for any support during my course of Ph.D.

I also gratefully acknowledge my nana ji, Pt. Dev Brat Vashisth (founder of Dainik Chetna) for he has been the force behind my achievements till date. His constant advises and unmatchable motivation, has made a lot of difference to me. He made me realise what I had only heard, “When the going gets tough, the tough get going”. He has inspired me to take up new challenges, tackle them with all the grit and determination and always thrive to come out victorious. We lost his charismatic presence the last year but he is and will always remain in our hearts and lives with his memories and blessings.

I would like to acknowledge all the teachers I learnt from since my childhood, I would not have been here without their guidance, blessings and support. I also express my honest gratitude to the colleges for their honest support and assistance, and the college students who consented to participate in this study for their cooperation, patience and support in the collection of the data.

Finally, I would like to mention the people who mean the world to me- my family. My acknowledgement will never be complete without the special mention of my pillars of my strength –my parents, Mr. Subhash Chander Sharma and Mrs. Sucheta Sharma for having shown their faith in me and giving me the liberty to choose what I desired. I would never be able to pay back the comforts, love, and care showered upon by them. Their persistent motivation and encouragement has always inspired me to aim higher and taught me how a person can succeed in achieving what seems impossible to begin with. I feel truly blessed and privileged to be their daughter...thank you Ma Pa for everything! My special thanks to my brothers- Karan and Dhruv for their unswerving help, support, care, and love that helped me steer through the plateaus and planes during the course of my Ph.D. Thank you for keeping the little kid alive in me. I consider myself the luckiest in the world to have such a supportive family, standing behind me with their love and support.

My heartfelt thanks to the sparkling blessings in my life- my friends. Thank you Akriti, Aditya, Gurleen, Kuldeep, Shweta, Vansh, Tanvi for being there through the data collection, correcting my thesis chapters on short notices and always being there and bearing with me through the good and bad times during my wonderful days of Ph.D. Our association goes a long way since school days, graduation and post-graduation; and you have been with me ever since then as a friend, a companion, a guide, and a true critique. I find myself lucky to have friends like you in my life.

I thank the Almighty for giving me the strength and patience to work through all these years so that today I can stand proud with my head held high.
