ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The production of such a large volume of work cannot be accomplished by an individual. I want to thank all those who shared the production of this thesis along with me.

Dr. Sunando Bandyopadhyay, who supervised the thesis throughout its long and hectic days of production, is beyond all thanks. I express my sincere gratitude for his untiring encouragement and guidance.

During my tenure as research fellow in the Department of Geography, University of Burdwan, I got free access to the departmental resources like old Survey of India maps and satellite data procured from the National Remote Sensing Agency. I also received constant help and encouragement from its faculties and staff-members. Among them, I must mention the names of Sri Debprakash Pahari, Dr. Giyasuddin Siddique, Dr. Lakshmi Sivaramakrishnan, Dr. Sanat Guichhait and Prof. Nageshwar Prasad.

Dipanwita Mukherjee, my co-researcher in the University department, deserves special thanks for processing of remote sensing data and finalising the graphic files used in this thesis. Arupranjan Chattopadhyay helped to prepare some of the photomosaics. Subhamita Chaudhuri went through the proofs. Software support was provided by Bhaskar Mitra and Bhaskar Saha.

Many people accompanied me during the fieldworks, among them I would specially like to thank Debprakash Pahari, Sandip Deyasi, Pradip Pal, Ritendu Mukhopadhyay, Golam Mostafa, Tarun Dan, Gargi Das and Shampa Ghosh, Tapan Kr Chakraborty, Anupama Chowdhury helped me a lot during the post field session.

Many aspects of the fieldwork could not be completed without the logistic support received from the Ganga Bhangan Pratirodh Nagarik Action Committee of Panchanandapur, Malda. I must mention the names of Kedar Mandal, Tarikul Islam, Khidir Baux and Sanjay Basak. Similar help was provided by Abul Kalam Azad and Swapan Ghosal in Akheriganj and Nirmal Char, Murshidabad.

Discussions with the Late Prof. Arabinda Biswas (Visva Bharati University), Prof. Aditya Chattopadhyay (Dept of Statistics, Burdwan University), and Dr. Kalyan Rudra (Habra Sri Chaitanya College) have been helpful.

It is my privilege to thank the colleagues and the management of my workplace Kandra Radhakanta Kund Mahavidyalaya; especially Dr. Mrinal Kanti Chatterjee, the Principal, for his support and co-operation.

This thesis owes a lot to Ramananda Bandyopadhyay, Krishna Bandyopadhyay, Chandradip Ghosh and Firoza Begum. My son Shatadru, wife Sabina and my parents sacrificed a great deal during the progress of the thesis and have also been a constant source of help and encouragement.

I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to all these people for their generosity.
