ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This work on Cooperative Learning is truly an outcome due to the cooperation and collaboration with a number of people. It is with deep gratitude that I express my appreciation to those involved.

I feel extremely fortunate to get Dr. Lalita R. Vartak as my guide, without whom I would not be the educator or person I have become today. I am immensely grateful to Dr. Vartak for her commitment to my learning, her dedication to the field of education and her motivational guidance through the dissertation process.

A special thanks to international expert Ms. Yael Sharan from Tel Aviv Israel, Secretary, and International Association for the Study of Cooperation in Education (IASCE) on application of Cooperative Learning in teacher education. Attending Ms. Sharan’s workshop on ‘Cooperative Learning’ organised by the SNDT College of Education for women, provided me with the valuable insights into the planning and implementation of cooperative learning in classrooms.

My sincere gratitude to the experts who provided their knowledgeable inputs and helped in the preparation of the data gathering tools the Teacher’s Handbook for Cooperative Learning. I thank Dr. Vishal Ghule who helped me with the statistical data analysis using SPSS.

The Ph.D. Coursework organized by Prof. Sanjeev A. Sonawane, Head of the Department of Education and Extension, SPPU, Dr. Megha M. Uplane, Associate Professor, Department of Education and Extension, SPPU gave me the opportunity to explore into the realms of research, which were unknown to me. I am extremely grateful for their timely inputs which helped me tremendously. I also thank the entire teaching and non-teaching staff of the department especially the librarian for their support.
A heartfelt thanks to Dr. Nandini Patil, the former Principal and Dr. Radhika Inmadar, the current Principal of Tilak College of Education. Both of them along with the teaching staff members cooperated by allowing me to use the pre service teachers of their esteemed college as the control group. This was an essential element for completing the research.

I put on record my gratitude and appreciation for my colleagues at Adarsha Comprehensive College of Education and Research for their motivation and support. I would like to acknowledge the help given by the Librarian Dr. Charudatta G. Gandhe for providing me the required learning resources. Similarly I would like to thank the librarians of SNDT University, Pune for assisting me to use their facilities.

I am grateful to my friends Dr. Gargee Mitra, Ms. Priya Singh and Dr. Namrata Kamble who are my co-learners for their enormous encouragement and valuable inputs.

Special thanks to my colleague and friend Ms. Gauri Varade who was always a source of support and helped me at every stage of my research without any hesitation.

Words cannot express my sincere gratitude towards my family for their persistent encouragement, constant support and patience that they extended towards me during the research.

A humble gratitude to the Almighty for blessing me with the strength to believe in myself and pursuing my dreams.

During this research journey I have had the privilege of meeting many people who have directly or indirectly contributed to this piece of research, I thank them all for their contributions.
