ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Words are often too frail to express inward emotions of indebtedness. A formal acknowledgement though hardly suffices to express gratitude but with this piece a small attempt has been made to show my deep sense of thankfulness towards the God almighty and all those who have been part of my journey, all those who have supported and contributed throughout this research and helped me in completion of my work.

By devotion to teacher one can have the two fold knowledge, worldly and spiritual alike and hence there is no one greater than the teacher and therefore one must respect one’s teacher.

Shankd Purana, Uttarkhand (81)

I express my foremost and deepest gratitude to my esteemed guide, Prof. Meenu Paul, Department of Laws, Panjab University, Chandigarh for giving an opportunity to carry my doctoral research under her supervision and extending her valuable guidance, support and motivation throughout this work laying down a strong foundation for the completion of my thesis. It has been the most enriching experience and a life time opportunity for me to give shape to my research under her analytical ability, innate goodness and unfailing enthusiasm. The valuable brain storming sessions and interactions, which I had with her, have undoubtedly helped me in supplementing my thoughts and attaining desired objective. Her deep insight helped me towards the initiation, continuance and culmination of this task. I also remain indebted to her for understanding and supporting me during the times when I needed her constant inspiration the most.

I extend my sincere thanks to Prof. Shalini Marwaha, Chairperson, Department of Laws, Panjab University, Chandigarh and all other faculty and staff members for extending a warm helping hand whenever I approached them.

My head bows with reverence before my parents and family members, whose self-effacing and untiring efforts take me towards the utmost spirit of honesty, commitment and truthfulness.
I am highly indebted towards my husband S.Gurbhinder Singh Johal, whose undying and unconditional love, support, encouragement and motivational spirit have served as a constant source of inspiration for me to complete my work.

I have immensely benefited from the inspiring and cheerful good wishes besides constructive criticism from my friends, which made my thinking more incisive and occasionally more precise. I am also thankful to my colleagues from the judicial fraternity for their help and effervescent attitude of motivation, which kept me in a never-say-die spirit.

I would be failing in my duty if I don’t extend my special thanks to the library staff of Department of Laws, University Institute of Legal Studies and the A.C Joshi Library for providing me requisite material for the purpose of my doctoral research.

Rest of all may not have been mentioned, but not forgotten.

DEEPTI GUPTA