ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the outset, I offer my sincerest gratitude to my supervisor, Dr Pardeep Ahlawat, Professor, Institute of Management Studies and Research, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak who has supported me throughout my thesis with his patience and knowledge whilst allowing me the room to work in my own way. As my supervisor, he has constantly inspired me to remain focused on achieving my goal. His observations and comments helped me to establish the overall direction of the research and to move forward with investigation in depth. I attribute the level of my Doctoral degree to his encouragement and effort and without him this thesis, too, would not have been completed or written. One simply could not wish for a better, friendlier and more supportive supervisor.

I would like to express my appreciation to Professor A.S. Boora, Director, IMSAR, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak for his advice during my doctoral research endeavor for the past six years. I also thank him for providing me with the opportunity to work with a talented researcher, my supervisor.

Thanks to my colleagues and MBA students at IMSAR, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak, who have helped (perhaps unknowingly) to organize my thoughts and views on topics associated with this research.

In particular, I wish to thank Hon’ble Vice-Chancellor, Dr. B. K. Punia, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak for his encouragement and moral support which enabled me to attend conferences & share my views with fellow academics. I owe a debt of gratitude to many of the people (too numerous to mention) whom I have met at conferences, who have offered their advice along the way. Thanks also, to the anonymous respondents who took the time to complete the questionnaire - I couldn't have done it without you!

I am grateful to Professor Mukesh Dhunna, Institute of Management Studies and Research, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak for contributing significantly towards the thesis work. He has helped me greatly and been a source of knowledge with real skills, specifically in extracting the research variables from the extant literature! My sincere thanks to him for generously sharing his time and knowledge in building a foundation of the research work. He has played a major role in making me understand the concept of diversity management.

I would like to thank Dr. Brij Mohan Goel, Department of Computer Science & Application, Vaish College of Engineering, Rohtak for their critical comments and suggestions during the initial phases of thesis work. I would like to thank administrative and technical staff members of the Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak who have been kind enough to advise and help in their respective roles. I am also grateful to Yashwanti Ma’am for bearing the inconveniences caused to her as a consequential to the involvement of her husband Dr. Pradeep Ahlawat, my supervisor and mentor, for a long time in this research work.

Last, but not least, I would like to dedicate this thesis to my parents and my mother-in-law, husband Manish Sharma and son Namish Sharma for their love, patience, and understanding, they allowed me to spend most of the time on this thesis.

Finally, to anyone else whom I should have mentioned here, but have omitted to do so, my sincere apologies and gratitude.
