ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

All praises for Almighty Allah whose strength and support helped me eternally in the completion of my doctoral thesis.

While going through the study of the history during first half of the twentieth century, it gives the impression that women's awakening in educational and social spheres is a great desideratum as compared to male segment of society. The Women's Urdu journals of the period had not only filled this lacuna but it provided a platform for their personality development and social awareness.

I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Ali Athar, Chairman, Centre of Advanced Study, Department of History, A.M.U, Aligarh whose guidance, moral support and inspiration enabled me to produce this work.

It is my pleasant duty to acknowledge my supervisor Dr. Azra Alavi (Retd.), Associate Professor, Department of History, A.M.U, who was kind enough to help me in every step in the preparation of this thesis. It is due to her valuable suggestions and constant guidance that my work could see the light of the day.

I am grateful to my revered teachers Prof. Tariq Ahmad and Prof. Mohmmad Parwez who were a constant source of inspiration for me during the course of my research work. Thanks are also due to Dr. Aneesa Iqbal Sabir, Assistant Professor, Department of History for her every possible help and encouragement. I am also thankful to Mr. Faiz Habib, the Cartographer, Department of History for preparing the map.

I would also like to acknowledge the indispensable help I received from the staff of the various libraries and archives in India. My special thanks to the staff of Urdu section of Maulana Azad Library and Women's College Library, A.M.U, Aligarh, Sundaryya Vignya Kendram (Urdu Research Centre), Hyderabad, Oriental Public Library, Andhra Pradesh, Raza Library, Rampur (U.P), Jamia Millia Islamia Library, New Delhi and National Library, Kolkata. I am also grateful for the co-operation I received from the staff of the research library of the Centre of Advanced Study in History for procuring books and articles which I needed for this work.

I take this opportunity to sincerely acknowledge the Maulana Azad National Fellowship (MANF) for providing financial assistance in the form of Senior Research Fellowship.

Last but not least, thanks are due to my parents and brother Md. Rafikul Islam and sister Mukta Islam, sister-in-law Khadija Islam and my nephew Rayyan Islam and to my friends for their consistent moral support and encouragement because of which I have been able to complete my P.hd thesis.

I am thankful to the staff of ‘Mishkaat Computers’ for their co-operation in printing this thesis.
