AKNOWLEDGEMENT

My indebtedness to my supervisor, Dr. S.M. Verma, Professor of History and Former Head- Department of Distance Education, Punjabi University, Patiala for his seasoned and generous guidance as well as keen interest in my work is too deep for words. He watched my progress over the years and very kindly spared time for discussing my problems related to the present topic for months together and also going through all my drafts with his habitual thoroughness. He also graciously allowed me the use of his personal library. Under his seasoned guidance I have enriched with modern and scientific research methodology. I undertook and finally completed my work with the patience revived time to time by his inspiring and sympathetic attitude. The occasional complications in the present work, sometimes made me feel dejected; at such moments I could not forget his instruction, “it is better to struggle in life then to compromise with the circumstances.”

I feel a sense of pleasure and pride while acknowledging the love and encouragement shown by Dr. Manju Verma, Professor of Political Science and Dean Social Sciences, better half of my supervisor Dr. S.M. Verma, for her guidance and cooperation which she extended ungrudgingly throughout the period of my research.

We are fully aware, librarians provide the crucial link between a researcher and his source material, so I acknowledge with gratefulness the help of all those who have helped me at their respective places. In particular my special thanks are due to the Director, National Archives of India, Jan Path, New Delhi; Nehru Memorial Museum Library, New Delhi; National Library, Alipur, Calcutta; Librarians of various libraries like Central Public Library, Patiala; Bhai Mohan Singh Vaid and Dr. Ganda Singh Sections, Bhai Kahan Singh, Library, Punjabi University, Patiala; Desh Bhagat Yadgar Library, Jallandhar; Dwarkadass Library, Madhya Marg, Chandigarh; Punjab State Archives, Patiala, etc.

I am also grateful to Dr. Varender Singh, Former Head - Department of History, Nehru Memorial College, Mansa, as it was entirely due to his encouragement that I finally undertook this study. He also guided me with patience and kindness, giving me freedom to pursue my own ideas. That in spite of the constant and valuable criticism and suggestions given by my advisor many errors still have crept in is entirely due to my own imperfection and intellectual limitations.

I shall always remember with deep gratitude the benign interest which Professor Dr. I.S. Sethi, Formerly Professor of Political Science, who took in inducing me into research and placing me in the hands of well known teacher and scholar of history of this region of the country. I shall never forget his help.

I am equally thankful to the teachers of the department of History and also the teachers of History in the Department of Distance Education, for their usual courtesy and ungrudging help that they have extended to me from time to time. I also acknowledge thankfully the help given by my friends- Mr. Nirpeept Sidhu,Gurdas Sekhon, and Tarsem Singh who have also helped me in many ways in the completion of the present work.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not express my sincere thanks to Col. G.S. Sekhon who helped me in correcting and final touches /shape to the present work. Without his help it would not have been possible to complete my work.

My thanks are due to my revered parents who always encouraged and inspired as well as financially assisted me whenever I was in need of some money without which the present work would not have been completed. I shall remain always indebted and beholden to them for their love, the encouragement and assistance they gave me at every step during the last four years of my research. I shall be failing in my duty if I do not acknowledge the help and cooperation given by my wife Jatinder Kaur Sekhon in the preparation of the various drafts of this thesis. She was a special source of inspiration during the course of my research work.

I must thank S. Paramjeet Singh, office in charge, Department of History for his co-operation in getting all the administrative formalities fulfill in connection with the procedure since the day I submitted my request for enrolment and registration of my Ph.D. till the last day of its submission.

BUTA SINGH