Acknowledgements

First and foremost, I would like to express my profound sense of gratitude to my supervisor, Professor Vandana Sharma, for her professional guidance, attention to detail, encouragement, and patience throughout the thesis. Her high standard of scholarship, critical insight, enthusiasm, and rigorous guidance made this journey an enjoyable and memorable experience. I sincerely appreciate her keen involvement and invaluable assistance in every aspect of this research. I feel fortunate to have got a chance to work under her dedicated guidance. She not only fueled my interest in research, but is an inspiring person whom I would continue to follow as role model throughout my life and try to live up to her expectations.

I owe an immense debt of gratitude to Dr. B. S. Sandhu, professor, Department of psychology, Punjabi University, Patiala for inspiring me to critically analyzing my work in order to add to the quality of research. His humble personality and enormous support has been a huge source of strength which motivated me to make humble and sincere efforts to reach my goal.

I would like to thank Dr. Gurminder Sokhey, Professor Department of psychology, Punjabi University, Patiala, for her valuable suggestions. I extend special thanks to all my teachers in the Department of Psychology who have encouraged and supported me throughout my research. They extended their hands for all kind of advice and assistance whenever I needed it which was invaluable for the completion of the thesis.

I extend special thanks Dr. G. S. Kang, Head & Professor, Department of Physical Education, Punjabi University, Patiala for his invaluable suggestions for sample selection and sport performance measurements. I would like to thank all the authorities and coaches of various institutions who facilitated contact with the participants and offered their facilities for conducting the research. I greatly appreciate and thank all players who were part of this research for their precious time and cooperation that formed the core of this research.

I would like to thank Mr. Parwinder Singh, Mr. Varinder Singh and all other members of the technical and administration staff of the Department of Psychology, Punjabi University, Patiala for their constant help and cooperation. I am thankful to the University Grant Commission, New Delhi for providing me with a research fellowship to pursue this research.

I really appreciate my wife Mrs. Chitra Dhiman, for her constant support, encouragement, adjustments, and sacrifices for providing me enough time for my research. She has been the source of inspiration behind my efforts throughout this process. I would like to thank my father, S. Naseeb Singh and mother Mrs. Bhinder Kaur. Despite the physical distances, they have always given me their unreserved support. A person cannot ask for more supportive, encouraging, and loving parents. I am thankful to my father-in-law, S. Joginder Dhiman and mother-in-law Mrs. Seema Dhiman, who always supported me throughout this research. I wish to sincerely thank everyone who supported me over the years, including my family and friends, who all contributed in their special ways, and are an important part of my life.

Most of all, I thank the Almighty for blessing me with the strength, light and wisdom to pursue my work.

Last but certainly not the least, heartfelt thanks and gratitude to my little and cute daughter, Yogita Mundra whose smile always refreshed my mind from the whole day's tiredness.
