ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is a great feeling to take a dip into the ocean of Sufism but I’m reluctant every time to come out of it! I wish I could be drowned in its currents – which are very strong but soothing to me. This project was an interesting journey for me, and in fact, the journey has only just begun. I consider my whole life as being well spent if I fully utilise even one percent of Sufi principles.

Deepest thanks must first go to my Dada (Grandfather), Hazrat Sufi Mohiuddin Chishti R.A. (1912 – 1998). During my childhood, Dada would tell us stories after dinner. These stories were so spellbinding that we were compelled to keep the betel leaf (paan) away from his reach, as once the paan kissed his lips our story time was over. It was during these post-dinner family gatherings that I was introduced to the mysteries of mysticism, even though I can’t quite pinpoint exactly when I was initiated to its club. I don’t know how to thank Dada now that he has gone, but I would like to tell him that I still miss those gatherings, and assure him that I will never deviate from the path he taught us – the path of love and peace. It is through living this path, that I can show my utmost gratitude to him.

My uncle, Razi Ahmad Chishti, has also been a constant source of inspiration. He loves to sit and unravel the secrets of mysticism with the dawn chorus, but unlike Dada, his forte is in discussing the pure philosophical aspects of Sufism. Chachcha has greatly influenced my thinking, and helped give a clear shape to this project. Also on the influence and encouragement from my family, I must thank my Dadi (Grandmother), who instilled and encouraged a strong work ethic in her grandchildren.
Credit must go to her, who in spite of her age, continues to inspire me to continue my work with proper planning and uncompromising determination.

Professor A.W. Azhar first presented this research topic to me. He provided superior scholarly advice and has an awesome understanding of the subject. Our discussions have given an edge to my appreciating the range of materials related to this topic.

But it is Dr. Akhtar Mehdi who guided me till the end of this work. I am relieved to have received his guidance half way through the writing of this thesis. Thank you Sir.

Khwaja Nizami Sani opened his broad and fascinating personal book collection to me, and I am forever grateful for his generosity. Interaction with him on several occasions has enriched my knowledge on Sufism.

Annie has been one of the most important contributors to this project. The use of language to communicate the true message was one of the most important reasons for the spread of Sufism, and Annie’s communication skills has assisted in the transfer of my thoughts fluidly on to paper. She enabled me to reduce my thinking to the key points by raising an endless number of questions at the time of editing and proof reading.

Sneha’s contribution was vital to this thesis. Her knowledge of the Bhakti movement is formidable, as is her understanding of the medieval period, and I consulted her for many points regarding Chapter 5.

Intelligent and engaging discussions were had with Ashish, who provided helpful advice.

A most unconventional, intelligent and inspiring economist, Satya, illuminated me on Sufi literature, and provided a thoughtful and fresh perspective at every stage of this project.
Thanks to my cousin, Nadeem and Atique for helping me collect research materials from different libraries.

I would also like to thank the staff of JNU library, ICHR Library, Rampur Reza Library, Maulana Azad Library, A.M.U. Aligarh, Cultural House of Islamic Republic of Iran and Khudabakhsh Oriental Public Library, Putna, who helped me get research materials from their libraries.

Thanks also to the teachers of Centre for Persian and Central Asian Study who installed discipline and taught me how to read and write Persian.

On translation of Persian text: the author relied on K.A. Nizami, B B Lawrence and Khwaja Hasan Sani Nizami’s works, who without these excellent references, this work would have been impossible.

Thanks for Auntiji (Mrs. Dhameja) for her support and love.

My deepest thanks to my parents and aunties and uncles for everything they’ve put into me throughout my life.
