The present work “Education and Social Change: A Sociological Study of Four Villages in Lakhimpur District of Assam” is an attempt to examine the role of education in bringing social change among the ruralities. This study is based on four villages of the district of Lakhimpur in Assam. As the purpose of the study is to make a comparative assessment on the impact of education on the rural people, therefore while selecting the villages the researcher selected one developed village and one relatively backward village, one scheduled caste village and another one scheduled tribe village. The aim of the work is to focus on the influence of education on social institutions viz. family, caste, marriage and religion, adoption of improved methods in agricultural production, political participation and formation of savings habit etc.

The researcher is indebted to many persons for their help and cooperation in this work. First of all, the researcher is greatly indebted and grateful to Prof. B.N. Borthakur, UGC Emeritus Fellow, Department of Sociology, Dibrugarh University, Dibrugarh, Assam, India who inspite of his busy schedule guided and supervised him. It would not have been possible for the researcher to complete the work without his help and encouragement. The researcher is thankful to all the distinguished faculty members of the Department of Sociology, Dibrugarh University who encouraged him to complete the work right from beginning. It would be ungrateful on his part if he does not remember his senior colleague Mr. Hem Chandra Goswami, Principal, and Mr. Bhupen Hazarika, Asstt. Professor, Kherajkhat College, Lakhimpur, Assam who inspired and pressurized the scribe to reach his goal. The researcher wants to offer thanks to his colleagues of Kherajkhat College for their inspiration to complete this work. The researcher is thankful to all the respondents of the villages studied for giving him their full cooperation in conducting the field enquiry. In the end the author owes words of thanks to Mr. Santanu Mahanta of M/s Sunprint, Dibrugarh University Market Complex as he has typed this report and thus help the scribe in completing it.
