Acknowledgements

Firstly, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my Supervisor Prof. H.Lakshmi for providing continuous encouragement, support, motivation and guidance throughout my Ph.D study. Her immense knowledge and rich research experience helped me at all times of research and writing of this thesis. I would like to thank Prof. P.A.George for consenting to be my Co-Supervisor and for encouraging me to take up this research. This study would not have been possible without their patience and valuable supervision.

Besides my Supervisor and Co-Supervisor, I would also like to thank the members of my research committee: Prof. R.D. Akella and Dr. B.Tharakeswar, for their insightful comments and encouragement that helped me to widen my research from various perspectives.

In addition, I would like to express my gratitude to Japan Foundation, India for providing me a research fellowship for conducting my fieldwork and collecting material in Japan which was of immense help in my research. I would also like to thank Prof. Komatsu for accepting me as a Japan Foundation Research Fellow, and his staff at International Research Centre for Japanese Studies, Kyoto for all the support provided by them.

My sincere thanks also go Mr. D. Krishna Mohan Sharma, Mr.B.Vamsi Krishna, and Mr.Srinivas who agreed to be a part of the translation experiment. Without their precious support it would not have been possible to conduct this research.

I specially thank Dr. B.Tharakshwar for the stimulating discussions and advice he has provided to me as a friend, philosopher and guide.

Last but not the least, I would like to thank my family: my parents and to my wife and my daughter as well as all my colleagues in the Department of Japanese for morally supporting me throughout the writing of this thesis.
