Acknowledgements

At the very outset, I thank my research supervisor, Dr. S. Lakshmi who has given me a clear framework to work within and a sense of direction to work along. Her uncanny ability to mix love, respect, encouragement, and firmness has been instrumental in bringing out the best in me and in completing the work in time. The promptness, accuracy, creativity, and insight with which she made her interventions at each and every stage of the research work in general, and the thesis in particular, make me bow my head before her in absolute reverence and gratitude.

I am happy to place on record my indebtedness to my uncle, Dr. Mathew Punchayil, who has introduced me to NLP and inspired me to do research in NLP and ELT. He has provided me with almost all the necessary resources and books on NLP. His ideas on NLP have gone a long way in moulding my understanding of it. And his observations, corrections and insightful suggestions have been invaluable at all the important stages of my work.

I express my deep gratitude to Dr. Richard P. McHugh who trained me in NLP in four training programmes at Sadhana Institute, Lonavala, Pune, India. The pioneer of NLP in India, who studied NLP under the original masters, Dr. McHugh’s training has given me valuable insights into the different aspects of NLP and hands-on experience with the various NLP strategies. He has also provided me with some rare NLP materials.

I thank Dr. M. R. Kubendran, Dean, Faculty of English and Foreign Languages, GRI, Gandhigram, for making all the official work related to my research absolutely hassle-free as well as for the support and encouragement he has given me.

Also, I thank the authorities of Gandhigram Rural Institute for admitting me to the doctoral programme and for ensuring that my research is conducted smoothly and completed in time.

I am grateful to the management of my parent institution, St. Berchmans College Changanassery-former Manager, Rev. Fr. Jose P. Kottaram: present
Manager, Rev. Dr. Joseph Naduvilezham; former Principal, Dr. Stephen Mathews; present Principal, Rev. Dr. To my Joseph; and Bursar, Rev. Fr. Regi P. Kuriann—for giving me permission to do my research at GRI, Gandhigram as well for their understanding, care, and concern,

I am deeply grateful to all the participants of the three rounds of classroom experiments. Their sincere co-operation and enthusiasm has been a constant source of encouragement reassurance for me.

Throughout my research, I have had the support and encouragement of all my colleagues in the Department of English, SB College, Changanassery. I thank all of them, especially Prof. A. J. Thomas, Dr. Mathew Jose, and Ms. Shiny Kuruvilla for their sincere and valuable comments as peer observers.

I gratefully remember all other members of the Department of English, GRI, Gandhigram, especially Dr. A. Joseph Dorairaj, who have shown keen interest in my work and have been a source of help and encouragement. The services of the members of the non-teaching staff of the faculty, especially those of Ms. Mahalakshmi, are also placed on record.

I am happy to thank Mr. Vinu C. T., researcher, IIM, Bangalore, for the meticulous statistical analysis of the post-test scores.

I wish to thank the librarian and staff of MG University Library, Kottayam for providing me with some valuable resources and materials for my work.

I am grateful to SIMS, Athirampuzha for the excellent support they have rendered in getting this thesis printed and bound.

Finally, I thank my wife Priya and my children, Sneha, Ujwal, and Sraddha for all the adjustments they have made in their lives to help me complete my work, as well as for their support and prayers. And I am grateful to my parents, uncles, and other relatives and friends who have supported me with their words of encouragement, concern, and prayers.
