ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the course of writing this thesis, I have become hugely indebted to a large number of people who rendered invaluable help in every possible way.

At the very outset, I would like to express my gratitude to Professor Valerian Rodrigues, my supervisor for his unfailing guidance and encouragement throughout the course of this research. Time and energy he devoted in the preparation of this thesis despite his busy schedule has left me with insufficient vocabulary to thank him. Without his acute sense of academics and penetrative knowledge of research, it would have been difficult to shape this work in a presentable form. I really owe my humble allegiance to him not only for his valuable and stimulative guidance but also for enlightening me in the field of research which will continue to remain as a source of intellectual endeavour in the years to come. Besides, his attention and seriousness in each and every work are also a lesson to become a better person in future. It gives me immense pleasure to express my heartfelt regards and gratitude to my supervisor.

I am also thankful to the faculty and staff of Centre for Political Studies, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, for their co-operation during seven years of my academic carrier in the Centre. I am also grateful to University Grant Commission for the financial assistance offered to me under Rajiv Gandhi National Fellowship. Without this assistance, I would have faced many financial difficulties in completing the study.

I am also grateful to the Committee on Loktak Project Affected Areas, Sanakeithel, Imphal for providing me resource materials for this work. Some of the documents which are difficult to avail from government offices were immensely helpful in the research.

Iyamba Bidhanchandra Laishram deserves special gratitude for his tireless effort in editing the work. Constant interactions with Iyamba, Tamo Dr. Bimol Akoijam of CSDS, New Delhi and Tamo Dr. Baghat Oinam of Centre for Philosophy, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, have been a source of inspiration for me all along.
Tamo Robindro and Babhi Priyadarshini also deserve special thanks for their kind support during my field work and throughout my research carrier.

I am also thankful to Syed Ahmed, Bijoykumar Khuraijam, Homen Thangjam, Ramananda Wangkheirakpam, Rajeev Irengbam, Kshetrimayum Kennedy, Romesh Pukhrambam, Manichandra Nongmaithem, Meghachandra, Brojen Sharma for the interactions and discussions I had during their stay in the University.

Further, I also extend my special gratitude to all my well wishers and friends for their constant encouragement and concern. Yankee Modi, Anne Hartig, Patricia Bukan, Anita, Jyotishreenath, Aren, Romina, Shiva, Arun Ningthoujam, Avantika, Samden, Batiste, Biraj, Avinendra, Sidhartha Sharma, Rahul, Joymati, Thoibi, Sarda, Bimola, Ta Iisingchaoba, Bimola, Ichahal, Pabitra, Raju, Romesh, Mohondas, Biques, Laxmikanta, Pakpi, Rohinkanta have always remained at my beck and call throughout the course of this work.

I acknowledge my deepest thanks to all the members of my family for their unwavering support and encouragement. Papa and Ima, who taught me that life is best lived by confronting it, merit my love and gratitude which will stay with me for ever. I owe a special thanks to my wife, Aruna Kshetrimayum, whose understanding and constant encouragement made the completion of this thesis possible.

Finally, I hold myself responsible for any errors, misrepresentations of facts or omissions in this work.

Kshetri Rajiv Singh