Acknowledgements

During my ten years of study I have been provided with help from various institutions and individuals. I take this opportunity to acknowledge them thankfully. I am grateful to the Librarian and Staff of the Centre for Development Studies (CDS), Thiruvananthapuram, Kottayam Public Library, TMAM Research and Orientation Centre (TMAMROC), Manganam, Kottayam, the Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam and the School of Social Sciences (SSS), Kottayam, for the great service they rendered to me.

I am indebted to our Director, Dr. Rajan Gurukkal, for the valuable suggestions and the support given to me by him, in boosting my confidence during the research period. Words seem insufficient, if I try to verbalise the invaluable and consistent support rendered to me by my supervisor, Dr. T.K.A. Neesar, throughout the years of my study. Neesar mash taught me how to look critically not only at the research problem but also at our own lives and our own ways of thinking as ‘humans’, which prompted me to go beyond the perceptions I had about the world and ourselves, that were founded merely on ‘ego’. This ‘critical eye’ guided me in unfolding the analytical ability of my mental faculty that was trained only for plant sciences till my postgraduate studies. His patience and the faith, all these years, he had in me formed the most and precious support to reach my goal. Still, his ‘depth in vision’, often reminded me that I have to travel a long way to form a part of the wider terrain of Social Sciences. I am extremely grateful to Neesar mash. Dr. S. Raju, Ms. Radhika and Dr. Sanal Mohan always showed interest in my study enquiring about the progress of my work. I am very much thankful to them. I am also thankful for the valuable suggestions given by Raju mash during the final stage of my work.

My colleagues at the School of Social Sciences offered me a strong helping hand all through these years and I am grateful to all of them. The discussions I had with Amruth helped me to get clarifications at various stages of the study. Also he provided me with some important secondary source materials, which gave some proper directions in this study. During the early period of my research, I had some interesting discussions with Dr.J.Devika, Dr.P.Madhu and Saju. Philip was kind enough to read and correct part of the descriptive account on Narmada movement, to which he is affiliated to, as an activist. Thanks are due to my co-researchers and the students of MA and MPhil programmes in our department, for being with me.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Rev. Sunny George and Rev. Dr. K.G. Pothen, of TMAMROC, who gave me proper support by permitting me to make use of the facilities in that institution, during their period as directors at that centre. I am thankful to Lovin and Baiju for their help in getting me some books when I needed it most. I wish to thank my friends at TMAMROC, Lacy aunty, Susan George, Sheeba, Usha kochamma, Saira, Mr. Mathew and Daisy chechi, who always showed real interest in the completion of this study. Susan was always very keen to collect and send to me some of the relevant articles and books, in the midst of her busy life at Canada.

I would also like to mention my close friends, who rendered me true moral support throughout these years of study. To remember them is a moment of joy in my life. Biju. P was compassionate enough to give me advice and support in all these years, whenever I faced some difficulty. I thank Binuraj (SGTDS) for getting me some important documents in proper time. My young friends at the School of Social sciences, Sujith, Suresh K.R., Binumol, Jubin, Nancy, Renjini, Salini, Rakhi, Suma J, Sherin, Saritha, Harsha, Jency and Justija, always provided me some help, who were also often very anxious about my study. I cannot but remember only with thanks my friends from other departments, who kept an eye on the progress of my study, Amrutha, Jyothi, Soumya, Harsha, Bushra, Misha, Anu, Shiji (all belong to SPAP), Anns (SBhS), Abeetha and Jyothi.K.K (SILT), Salini M.R, Chinchu, Sumi, Sasikala and Anitha (of SGTDS), Laya (school of letters), Prathibha and Jisha (SIR), Shiyara and Jesmi (SCS), Sonima (SBS), Anila (SPS), Sujatha (Environmental Sciences). My friends at the Institute of Social and Ecological Studies (ISES), Calicut, Dr. Brahmaputran, Unni, Sarmila, Radhakrishnan sir and Sobhachechi always encouraged me to finish the study at the earliest.

I am grateful to Ms. Jayasree, Ms. Syama K.R., Ms. Manjusha (earlier Library staff) and Ms. Anitha, presently in charge of library, for their valuable help. I am also thankful to all the earlier office staff of the School of Social Sciences, and those working presently there, Mr. Sreejith, Shailaja chechi, Mr. Padmakumar and Mr. Shijo for the services rendered to me.

I am very much indebted to my parents and others in my family, who always took my study seriously and gave me all kinds of support all through these years. Thanks are due to my sister Ms. Letha Devi and her kids, Anju kutty and Kannan, for assisting me in computer works and proof reading of this thesis.

I also offer my sincere thanks to the Staff of Minitek Computers, Athirampuzha for the neat presentation of the thesis.
