ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am ever grateful to God, the Creator and the Guardian, for it is under His Grace that we live, learn and flourish and to whom I too owe my very existence.

First and foremost, I would like to express my indebtedness to my supervisor, Dr. George Joseph, Sr. Lecturer, School of Indian Legal Thought, Kottayam, for his guidance and continuous support during the whole tenure of my research. He brought my ideas into focus, and I consider it a work of providence that I found him as my advisor and guide.

My most earnest acknowledgment is due to my mentor, Dr. Vikraman Nair, Director, School of Indian Legal Thought, Kottayam, who encouraged me to take up research on this topic. I am grateful for his constructive criticism.

I am immensely indebted to Dr. S. Sivakumar, Officiating Director, Indian Law Institute, New Delhi, for his generosity, valuable suggestions and directions in every aspect of my research work. No word is sufficient to express my gratitude to him.

I express my gratefulness to Prof. (Dr). K. N. Chandrasekharan Pillai, Former Director, Indian Law Institute, New Delhi and Mr. Dalip Kumar, Registrar ILI, for allowing me to pursue Ph.D despite my professional commitments.

I am profoundly grateful to Mr. T.C. James, Director, Department of Industrial Promotion and Policy, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India, New Delhi, for showing keen interest in the progress and completion of my research. He was kind enough to go through the draft and offer valuable suggestions with his expertise in the subject. His comments have improved the quality of the work. I owe a deep sense of gratitude for his readiness to spend time in shaping my ideas, clearing doubts and providing research materials.
I had lively discussions with WIPO officials regarding my research topic and they have given me valuable information and inputs. I further extend my sincere thanks to Dr. A. David Ambrose, Lecturer, Department of Legal Studies, University of Madras for his suggestions and comments.

There are a number of people in my everyday circle of colleagues who have enriched my academic and professional life in various ways. I would like to express special thanks to my colleague Dr. S.S. Jaswal for his morning greetings mixed with advice, reminders and valuable suggestions for completing the research.

I record my deep appreciation to Ms. Karthika Priyadharshini V., Head, Education Vertical, QA InfoTech, New Delhi for spending weeks together in editing the drafts and polishing the language.

I would be failing in my duties if I do not acknowledge the valuable suggestions given by Mrs. Bindu K. Nair, Advocate, Supreme Court of India in drafting the model law.

The most important persons who have been with me in every moment of this research work are my parents, in-laws and husband. There are no words to express their co-operation and encouragement. The affectionate sacrifice made by my daughter Christeena is unforgettable.

I would like to thank the librarian and staff at Indian Law Institute for showing much enthusiasm to manage my queries and requests for various books and materials. I am also deeply indebted to the librarians of School of Indian Legal Thought (SILT), Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam, Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi, Indian Society of International Law (ISIL), New Delhi, British Council Library, New Delhi and American Centre Library, New Delhi for providing me all the facilitates in their respective libraries.

Last but not the least, I thank Almighty God for reasons too numerous to mention.

You have done many things for us O Lord, our God;

There is no one like you!

You have made many wonderful plans for us

I could never speak of them all - their number is so great!
