ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, the author offers her sincerest gratitude to her supervisor, Dr. S. Nagan, M.E., Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Civil Engineering, Thiagarajar College of Engineering, Madurai, who was abundantly helpful and offered invaluable assistance, support and guidance throughout her thesis.

The author records her deep gratitude to the Correspondent and Management of Thiagarajar College of Engineering, Madurai for the pleasant environment extended to take up this research.

The author is grateful to Dr. Abhai Kumar, Principal, Thiagarajar College of Engineering, Madurai for permitting to carry out research work.

The author expresses her sincere gratitude to Dr. K. Arunachalam, Professor and Head, Department of Civil Engineering, Thiagarajar College of Engineering, Madurai for offering constructive advice and immense knowledge throughout her work on column testing.

The author would like to thank the Doctoral committee members Dr. N. Mahendran and Dr. L. Andal for their encouragement, advice, support and constructive ideas during the course of the research.

The author wishes to express her warm and sincere thanks to Dr. BV Rangan, Emeritus Professor, Curtin University of Technology, Australia for his boundless affection, and suggestions throughout the research. The author sincerely thanks all staff members and the technical assistance offered by laboratory staff especially Mr. Kamaraj and Mr. Rajappa. The author owes her loving thanks to her husband K. Kannapiran and sons K. Gautam Kanna and K. Siddharth Kanna for their sacrifices, understanding and endless love throughout the duration of her studies.

Finally, the author offers her thankfulness to the lotus feet of Bhagavan Sathya Sai Baba, for reasons too numerous to mention.

Sujathat