SUGGESTIONS FOR FURTHER RESEARCH

Research is essential for the improvement and development of a nation. It works on of scientific facts and theories, human behaviour, group dynamics and other social aspects for the development of better citizens which leads to progress and prosperity of a nation. Keeping in mind following topics are suggested for further research.

1. The study can be made comprehensive by extending it to state level which will make the results more valid and reliable.
2. Vocational maturity of the students can be studied in relation to their socio-economic status.
3. Study of vocational maturity in relation to intelligence can be taken.
4. Vocational maturity can be studied area wise and comparison among the vocational maturity rate area wise can be made.
5. Study on the relationship of vocational maturity and aptitude can be taken.
6. Study of same nature can be undertaken for government and non government school students.
7. The same study may be conducted for college and university students too.
8. Effect of personality factors on vocational maturity can be studied.
9. A study of relationship between vocational maturity and job satisfaction can be interesting one.
10. A study of effect of vocational education on vocational maturity of secondary school students can be taken.
11. Career maturity and commitment to work in college students can be studied.