Acknowledgments

The completion of this work has been rendered possible through the assistance, guidance and supervision which I received from many quarters. Primarily, this work is the product of the interest, guidance, supervision and inspiration extended by my supervisor Professor Rahmatullah Khan, Chairman of the Centre for Studies in Diplomacy, International Law and Economics of the School of International Studies. The idea of choosing this topic was suggested by him. I debated the framework with him and decided to embark upon this "joint venture" with an agreement to submit my ideas and industry to him in return for his guidance and supervision which has resulted in the completion of this work. Apart from the valuable guidance given, Professor Rahmatullah Khan has taken pains in chiselling this writing to give it the perfection it requires. I express my deep sense of gratitude to him.

But for the doctoral scholarship awarded to me by The Hague Academy of International Law, Holland, in 1980, it would not have been possible for me to collect essential materials and complete this work. I owe a great deal to His Excellency Justice Manfred Lachs of the International Court of Justice, The Hague, Miss Maarleveld, Head of the Secretariat of The Hague Academy of International Law, Professor W.D. Verwey of the University of Groningen (Holland), who was then the Director of Studies at The Hague Academy of International Law, all of whom have extended their invaluable guidance and assistance during my stay at The Hague.

Mr M.J. Shah, Chief of the Maritime Legislation Section of the UNCTAD, Geneva, and Mr Topping of the same department and Mr Enrique Molina-Vallejo of the Shipping Division of the UNCTAD and Mr Mac Deugall Hunter of the Ports Section UNCTAD, Geneva, very kindly helped me with all the possible materials they could extend to me during my visits to Geneva in September 1980 and May-June 1981. Also the staff members of the UNCITRAL in Vienna have been extremely helpful in giving me free access to the briefs and other UN documents during my visit to Vienna in 1980. I have also benefited a great deal from the guidance given to me by Dr Samir Mankabady, Consultant in Shipping Law and Reader in Shipping Law of the Liverpool Polytechnic, U.K., during my stay in Liverpool.

Finally, I express my gratitude to Mr Philicks, the Librarian of the Peace Palace Library, The Hague, Holland, the Librarian United Nations Library, Palais de Nations, Geneva, Mr Saxena, Librarian, Indian Society of International Law, New Delhi, the staff members of the United Nations Library, New Delhi, the Supreme Court Judge's Library and the Supreme Court Bar Association Library, the Indian Law Institute Library, and the Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, New Delhi for their invaluable assistance.

Finally I record my great sense of appreciation to Miss Vinodini Sankaranarayanan, I.R.S, for her assistance and to Mr C.R. Menon, who has done a neat job in typing out the manuscript.

New Delhi
9 July 1982.

[Signature]

JAYARAMAN, K.