ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to acknowledge my immense gratitude to my supervisor and guide Dr. P. Bhaskaran Nair by borrowing a few lines from the Bible:

When my heart was grieved and my spirit embittered I was senseless and ignorant; you hold me by my right hand. You guide me with your counsel, and afterward you will take me into glory.

My special thanks to the Principal(s), HOD(s) and everyone in the Department of English, and the office staff at Brennen College, who have been extending their whole-hearted welcome and timely assistance to me. Never have I experienced any reluctance or delay from the Principals, teachers or the office staff.

Mr. T. K. Abdurahiman, R D D of H S E (Kozhikode) never said a ‘no’ to my entering leave for completing this work. Former M. P. of Kozhikode, Sri. M. P. Veerendra Kumar and the present M.L.A. of Kozikode-1, Sri. A. Pradeep Kumar, both showed keen interest in the pedagogical importance of the topic of research and were generous enough to discuss their readings on Friere’s Pedagogy of the Oppressed. I am highly obliged to them.

Dr. P. Madhavan, Dr. Paul Gunashekhar, Dr.Chanchala, Dr. Mohan Raj, Madhumeetha, and the library staff of EFLU Hyderabad have knowingly or unknowingly had their share of contribution to this study. Former Prof. V. Sasikumar( CIEFL) clarified many of my doubts in this study ,especially in L1-L2 acquisition (or learning).Words won’t suffice to express my gratitude to them.

My husband’s support –emotional and academic—from day one has been the constant backing on which I thrived to the end of the work.
My friends, Dr. M. S. Geetha (Training College Trivandrum), Mr. Shaji (Calicut University), Dr. Pockerkutty (MES Thalassery), Dr. Leena (Brennen College), Dr. Prathibha and Dr. Jyosna (Brennen College), Unniettan and Nimmychechi, Dr. Reema Jayachandran, Shobhana and others whom I do remember now have encouraged me at one juncture or the other. The Kannur University staff deserves compliments for their friendly approach to this researcher. I thank them all.

The two persons who actually pushed me into this work are Mrs. Prasannabhai Bhaskaran and Miss Dhanya Bhaskaran. The affection, the care and the unfailing support of Prasanna teacher has filled confidence in my final days of the work. What I owe her cannot be written down.

My brothers, cousins, my sister-in-law Mini and my nephews Ben and Appu who were all ready to assist in any way they could, are remembered for not failing me in the middle. Mr. M.V. Prasad, my senior assistant, who took charge of the office in my absence, and other members of staff, who did not even call me over phone fearing they would disturb me, have been remembered for their unconditional support. Let me acknowledge my deep and sincere gratitude to all mentioned here, and to my students too. My children—Manjukkutty and Kuttan—in spite of their occasional grumbling, have suffered a lot for this work. Their loss, I can never substitute. My mother has missed me a lot. Rajan, the helping hand to me in the house-hold work, has reminded me quiet often that I have a long way to go. To them I owe so much.

Dr. K.N. Padmanabhan Nair, whose memory has been a strengthening one in any endeavor that I undertake, is remembered with due reverence. Obligation is due to my father-in-law, late Mr. Leslie Noone, and mother-in-law, Victoria Noone and other relatives whose constant encouragement resulted in the completion of this work.
Dr. Oliver Noone and Dr. Mohan Noone shared their experiences and knowledge about human brain, thought and language, latest discoveries related to brain and second language learning, in the light of neurosciences. Words may not be sufficient to acknowledge their share in this study.

Thanks goes to my student Shylesh K (Digital Image, Calicut) for the DTP work and to Babitha Printer for the book binding.

Lastly, the divine presence and power that has been my guiding light, how can anyone thank You?
