REFERENCES

References

Ajith Kumar P & Sreeni S 1995. Isolation of somaclonal variants through rhizome explant cultures of Kaempferia galanga L. In. All India Symposium on Recent Advances in Biotechnological Applications of Plant Tissue and Cell Culture, CFTRI Mysore, p. 43.

Butler ET 1918. Fungi and disease in plants. Thacher and Spink, culcutta.

Chandrappa HM, Shadakshari YG, Sudharsan MR & Raju B 1997. Preliminary yield trial of tissue cultured cardamom selections. In S Edison, KV Ramana, B Sasikumar,

Feng, G.H. and Ouyang, J. 1988. The effects of KNO₃ concentration in callus induction medium for Fennah RG 1947. The insect pest of food crops in the lesser Antilles, Dept of Agric. Windward and Leeward Islands.

Jansen PCM 1981. Spices, Condiments and Medicinal Plants in Ethiopia: Their taxonomy and agricultural significance. Agricultural Research Reports 906, pp. 10-20 Center for Agricultural Publishing and Documentation, Wageningen, the Netherlands.

Peter KV, Ravindran PN, Nirmal Babu K, Venugopal MN, Geetha SP and Benny D (2001) Production of somaclones and somatic hybrids of cardamom (Elettaria cardamomum Maton) for high yield and resistance to diseases. ICAR Project report. Indian Institute of Spices Research, Calicut, India, pp. 120.

Raina VK, Srivastava SK & Syamsundar KV 2005. Rhizome and leaf oil composition of Curcuma longa from the lower Himalayan Region of North India. J. Essential Oil Res.

Advances in Plant Cell Research, June 1989, University of Kerala, Thiruvananthapuram, India.

Sharma AK & Bhattacharyya NK 1959. Cytology of several members of Zingiberaceae and a study of the inconsistency of their chromosome complement. La cellule, 59:279-349.

Swigar AA & Silverstein RM 1987. Monoterpenes. Aldrich Chemicals Co.inc, Milwaukee, WI, Yegna Narayan Aiyer AK 1944. Field Crops of India, Bangalore: Govt. Press.

