ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Pursuing Ph.D. is like an adventurous journey on an untrodden path to reach a certain end. One proceeds step by step, accompanied with mixed experiences. Now, when I find myself at the end of the journey, I am realizing that it is due to efforts of many that has got me here. It is a pleasure to acknowledge in my humble way to all those people whose contributions in many ways has enabled me to complete my research work.

In the first place I would like to record my gratitude to my supervisor Professor Ashok Vohra for his able guidance and advice. He has inculcated in me the love for Philosophy. I could have never embarked on this journey without him. He has immensely enriched and nourished my growth as a student, researcher and teacher. I shall remain indebted to him forever for leading me through the right path, the magnanimous moral support and unflinching encouragements that has always sailed me through. Thank you.

Words fail to express my appreciation to my husband Janesh (Bobby). I am continually amazed by your profound understanding, love, friendship, care and patience. You have been a rock of stability of my life. You have taught me how to be always optimistic, even in the dark; to be steadfast and never bend to difficulties. Most of all you have always reassured me by your persistent confidence in me. The fact that you are always proud of me has sustained me so far, motivates me to work harder and do my best.

I owe the biggest chunk of appreciation to my wonderful daughter Anaya. Thank you for being such a good-mannered, agreeable girl who always cheers me up. You have lightened my life with love. Even though you are very young to understand the joy of intellectual pursuits, yet, the zeal in me to instill in you the love for learning as you are growing up has been instrumental in my pursuing this work.

My mother and my late father deserve thanks for sincerely raising me up with care and gentle love. I can’t thank ‘ma’ enough for instilling in me the love for academics since I was a child and for the numerous sacrifices that she had made for me. I would also like to render my heartfelt thanks to my parents-in-laws. Thank you for your unstinting inspirations and love in abundance. My home help Neelam deserves special thanks for shouldering the greatest share of my domestic responsibilities.

Also, I would like to extend my gratitude to my alma mater: Department of Philosophy, Delhi University; my colleagues; my college for providing me with study-leave and Kiran Juneja for assisting me with the official proceedings.

Finally, I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful realization of this thesis, as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention personally one by one.

Mayuri Gogoi.
