ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost I would like to thank my supervisor, Prof. Aditya Mukherjee, for being patient and gently pushing me to complete this work. His suggestions and criticisms, and his minute and detailed corrections of the earlier drafts have immensely helped me.

Prof. Neeladri Bhattacharya introduced me to the area of environmental history. My regular interactions with him have helped shape my understanding of the subject. Prof. Mridula Mukherji has always been generous in extending encouragement and help.

This work would not have been possible without the help provided to me at a very crucial time by Dr. Satpal Sangwan. I would never forget his patience and forbearance.

The financial assistance extended to me by Indian Council for Historical Research and National Institute of Science, Technology and Development Studies have helped me immensely.

Mr. D.K. Mishra and Dr. Rohan D'Souza made the task easy for me. They have passed on many important books and documents. Dr. Pratik Chakravarti painstakingly went through a badly written draft and offered valuable suggestions. Mr. Farman Haider has been very kind in preparing the maps.

I would like to thank all the staff of National Archives of India, Bihar State Archives, Patna, Record Room of Irrigation Department, Patna, Record Room of Board of Revenue, Patna, Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, Central Secretariat Library and NISTADS Library.

Dr. Abhay Kumar and his family has been a generous host during my stay at Patna. Manoj, Rajesh, Amitabh, Ranjan, Ashok, Mahesh, Rajshekhar, Navneet, Sanjay and many other friends have been of constant help. Murali and Smitha have been extremely kind and generous in helping me in many ways.

My young friends, Buchchi, Piyush, Preetoji, Sumit, Khushboo, Mala and Nidhoji have helped me tide over a very difficult period of my life.

Finally, it would have been difficult to complete this work without the help, encouragement and, most importantly, criticism of Biplove.

Praveen Singh