ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe sincere gratitude to my supervisor Professor Atiya Habeeb Kidwai for her constant support throughout my Ph.D. programme. She has not only been my academic support but has also been a guiding force for my personal development. I have tried to inculcate in my thought and belief those values that have been inherited to me by her overarching personality. I lack words to express my thanks to her; she is more than a supervisor to me.

A special thanks goes to my supervisor Prof. Raymond P. Cote at SRES in Dalhousie University, Halifax. He has been exceptionally nice and kind to me. He has gone out of his way to provide me extra academic inputs and facilities at the Centre. Prof. Om. Karnra and Prof. Denis Stairs of Dalhousie University have provided good support at the initial stage of my stay in Dalhousie University. I thank them for their help. The encouragement, love and affection of faculty and staff of SRES and Dalhousie have made my stay pleasant in a foreign country. It was like a home away from home. I express my heartiest gratitude to all of them, especially Mrs. Branda Smart who has been very supportive throughout my stay at SRES, in Dalhousie. Without their help it would not have been possible for me to complete the research work in Halifax.

It was Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute, New Delhi that made it possible for me to take up doctoral research in Canadian. The financial and logistic support provided by both India and Canada offices of Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute has been more than my expectations. Mrs. Sharmistha Roy and Ms. Celine D. Paoli, programme officers, India and Calgary offices have been very supportive and approachable during my Canadian study programme. They were always ready for assistance. I thank both of them. I express my gratitude to Shastri Institute without its support this research would not have been possible.

I would also like to thank the organizers of orientation programme for a week in Ottawa University, when I visited Canada. It was my first visit to a foreign university. The hospitality and conduct of the orientation programme was excellent. I thank Dean, School of Social Science and Institute of Canadian Study for making our stay informative and comfortable in Ottawa University. It was a great privilege to be invited to see proceedings in the Parliament by Hon. David Kilgour, P.C. Member of Parliament and Secretary of State for Asia- Pacific during our orientation programme in Ottawa. It was a great moment of my life and I thank him for his esteemed gesture.

I deeply acknowledge my gratitude to all scientists, government personnel, community leaders and others who have participated in my research by means of one to one personnel communication. It would be difficult for me to name them all. However, I would like to thank Dr. Bruice Hatcher of Marine Affairs Programme, Dalhousie University; Dr. Gorden B. Fader, Bob Tailor and Dr. Dale E. Buckley from GSC, DFO, Dartmouth; Dr. Fill Yeats, Dr. Jocelyne Hellou and Dr. Keiser Paul of Fisheries and Ocean Canada, BIO, Dartmouth; Dr. Paul Klamaas and Dr. W. Wayne Barchard of EC, Dartmouth; Dr. Tony Blouin, Alwa Robinson, Hilary Campbell, Paul Morgan, Jim Gannon, Betty McDonald, Ken Lenihan, and Marcus Garnet all from HRM, Halifax and Dartmouth Offices.

It would have been difficult to stay comfortable for long in a foreign country without the love, affections and support of friends. I thank my friends Paresh Dada, Roshni and their son Ayush, Jayson Vanhusain, Nainish, Jorge Alex King. They are so affectionate to me that I do not have words to explain. I also thank Anita Nair and Cameron Deacoff for his academic and personal supports. I deeply express my thanks to Joy Roy and his wife Sunitabhabhi, Vikram, Mukesh, Alok and Isminder for their love and affection.

I would like to extend my thanks to faculty at the Centre for the Study of Regional Development (CSRD), JNU who have provided me academic inputs as and when needed. It is not possible to name them all here, however, Dr. Sachidanand Sinha, Dr. Milap Chand Sharma, Prof. Amitabh Kundu, Prof. Aslam Mehmoood, Prof. Herjit Singh, Prof. M.H. Qureshi, Prof. Saraswati Raju, Dr. P.M. Kulkarni, Dr. Anuradha Banerji, Dr. Sucharita Sen and Dr. Dipen Das, need special mention. They have been very supportive throughout my Ph.D. programme as well as two years of my master's programme at the Centre. They have seen me growing academically at the Centre. I thank the chairperson Prof. M.D. Vemuri for his academic and administrative supports.

A special word of appreciation is due to my juniors Rajesh, Animesh, Vikram, Vijay Bharti, and Anjum for their positive help during my research. My senior Dr. Kaberi Nandi's support has been encouraging.

Other staff of my Centre were also helpful and had provided me good support in carrying my research. I extend my heartiest thanks to Mrs. Rajni madam, Mr. K. Varghese, Dr. Satyendra Kumar, Dr. N.C. Jana, Mr. Prem Sagar, Mr. Ashok, Mrs. Sunita and Mrs. Shish Kaur for their support throughout my association with CSRD. I deeply acknowledge the support of other staff of CSRD and School of Social Science during my research work. I thank the librarian and other staff of JNU library for timely help in collecting research material for my research work.

I thank Mr. Tiwari, secretary, Kandla Port Trust for his permission to access the information on Kandla Port. Mr. Om. Prakash public relation officer was very cooperative and helpful. Mr. Rao senior scientist, marine department, and Traffic Manager at Kandla Port provided me relevant data on Kandla port. It was their support that I could visit Kandla port and see the working conditions and felicities.

The Students of M.A. (Economic) class of Tolani College of Commerce, Gandhidham have been a great help for my field survey in Kandla and Gandhidham. I thank the Principal and faculty specially, Mr. Tuglani and Mr. Thapa of Tolani College for their support. During my field survey at Kandla and Gandhidham I met Mr. Anand who extended his helping hand for my fieldwork. He is a true friend of mine now. I would also like to thank one of my friends Mr. Manish Kumar for providing me shelter in his home during my fieldwork. His support and encouragement helped me complete my work on time.

I thank ICSSR for awarding me the doctoral research fellowship and also for financial support of my research in India. It was this financial support that I could complete my doctoral research in JNU.

I thank my friends Dr. Ashis, Dr. Santosh Kumar, Dr. S. Kaushik, Dr. Sanghita Battacharya, Dr. Shiv Kumar Verma, who have provided moral support and have encouraged me during my Ph.D. work.

There are some persons who know me better than what I know about myself and they are 'a friend in need a friend indeed'. My heartiest thanks goes to my family friend Aradhana, and Pannu. I thank Umeshji, Mamata Bhabhi, Anil, and Murty, for being like a family member during my stay in Mahanadi hostel, JNU. A special thanks goes to Agabhaijan, Ashmi Bhabhi, and Faraz for being so nice to us in Mahanadi hostel.

There has been a tremendous encouragement and support from my father-in-law and his family members during my research work. I have no words to thank Uncle for his constant encouragement during my doctoral research work.

I owe my gratitude to my family, which provided me a good support in every respect of my career. My parents have been a source of inspirations and encouragement throughout my life. It is their hard work and consistent support that helped me move forward in life. My Nani has tremendous faith in me for achieving a new height in my life. Her presence in my family gives me strength and encouragement to strive hard to fulfill their dreams through my academic progress. Coming of my daughter Vaidehi (Bau) in our family made me more responsible than before. My wife Mitakshara has been a constant moral support during my research work. She has stood behind me in all ups and downs during the last four years.
