These wonderful words of Rabindranath Tagore immensely helped me not to get deviated from my target that sometimes seemed to be a daunting task. I had to tread every single moment of the way as I went on to achieve this uphill task, but now when taken as a whole, these seven years of work seems to be a small thing.

My words of acknowledgement definitely start with Prof. Asis Datta, a supervisor who perhaps provided the maximum facility to work, with nothing being unavailable. He was forever supportive in all scientific aspects lending the strength towards achieving the goal.

I would like to thank my co-supervisor Prof. Gauranga Mukhopadhyay for his encouragement and always making me remember my registration dates for each semester.

My heartfelt thanks are due to Prof. Kasturi Datta, for not only extending her lab facilities, but also for the affection she bestowed on me.

It is also my pleasure to thank Dr. Subhra Chakraborty and Dr. Niranjan Chakraborty for those guiding words and their ready-to-help attitude.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. S.K. Bhattacharya, the former director, NICED, Kolkata for allowing me to work in the institute. At NICED, I gratefully acknowledge the goodwill and advice I received from Dr. T. Ramamurthy, Dr. R. Nandy, Dr. A.K. Mukherjee, Dr. A.N.
Ghosh and Dr. S.Ganguly. I take this opportunity to thank all the lab members for their whole hearted co-operation-Rupa di for always being there during my animal experiments, Kausik for making me familiar with the new lab, Amit, Shoubhik, Reema, Jeet for giving me good company at the lunch breaks.
I owe my thanks to Professors Masakazu Niimi for the plasmid p6HF-ACT1, Cheryl A. Gale for pYFP and K. Kovacs for pMhe7Tc.

In all my efforts my deepest debt is to my parents who always valued education more than any material things apart from providing immense support. Their years of unconditional love and determination to bring out the best from their daughter helped me to win many a battle.

I also feel greatly in debt to my husband, Devashish who shared with me my day to day anguishs and sacrificed a lot to cope up with my irregular schedule. I sincerely owe my gratitude to my parents-in-law who in spite of their ill health rarely complained about my perpetual absence.

I have deepest admiration for my teachers at Gokhale Memorial Girls' School who inculcated in me the strong feeling of womanhood apart from trying to make us good human beings. "Gokhale".....I owe you a lot. At Presidency College and Ballygunje Science College I had the rare chance to meet some of the finest professors who were always ready to offer that "extra bit" and determined to instil our faith in academics.

At my lab, I sincerely thank my senior Manjistha di who taught me to design, execute and analyze experiments. For Hanumantha, words seem to be inadequate- he was there for me always, helping in all possible ways, never distinguishing between his work and my work-this body of work can be pretty well called his work. I thank Deepa for providing me on-the-bench help during my initial years and also helping me in some of my difficult times. I also thank all the members of lab nos. 104 and 105 for helping me in some or the other ways. Aurobindo da, Bishu da and Ajay ji deserve special thanks for their uninterrupted, valuable service, especially Aurobindo da for taking that extra care for me and Hanumantha. I also thank Ravi, Shanker, and Rajveer ji for their assistance. I thank Sarjeet da for taking care about the orderings. I do acknowledge the cooperation of the CIF staffs at NIPGR for their valuable assistance during microscopy.

At this juncture I fondly recall two names-Anupma and Ratnesh who were once a part of our lab, for taking so much care for me and sending me innumerable references.

I thank CSIR and NIPGR for the financial assistance.
I really do thank all my friends and well-wishers for their help and support at the various stages of my life-Satyakam da for helping me to explore a part of the world of Rabindra sangeet where I always take shelter during pensive mood; Chandana Miss, PBC sir, for their help with the biology subject and ‘dadu’-the incredible octogenarian who still keeps a track about my academic laurels. Mamata, who is spending her last several years in my house, took off the entire luggage off my shoulder when I needed her the most.

My parting words will obviously be for the angel of my life-Nilanjana, my dearest Juni. It is that charming face with dark twinkling eyes that serves as an instant panacea. She perhaps suffered the most, giving me the chance to make my father’s dream come true.Juni.....this is all for you.
