Contents

Chapter 1
Introduction and Theoretical Framework 1-75

1.1. Ethnic Profile of Siddis

1.1.1. Migrations of Siddis
   1.1.1.1. Slave Trade Migration
   1.1.1.2. Migration as Soldier
   1.1.1.3. Migrations as Traders /Sailor

1.1.2. Absorption of Siddis

   1.1.2.1. Religion Based Absorption
   1.1.2.2. Political Based Absorption
   1.1.2.3. Defamation of Siddis

1.1.3. Geographical Spread of Siddis

   1.1.3.1. Regions of Absorption
   1.1.3.2. Gujarat
   1.1.3.3. Andhra Pradesh
   1.1.3.4. Karnataka

1.1.4. Ethnographic Profile of Siddis

   1.1.4.1. Gujarat

   1.1.4.1.1. Islam makes Siddis a Religious Minority
   1.1.4.1.2. Siddi Sufi Shrine constructs Diasporic Features 1.1.4.1.3. Adoption of Dominant Festival
   1.1.4.1.4. Acculturation of Local Traditional Customs

   1.1.4.2. Karnataka

   1.1.4.2.1. Conversion to Hinduism, Islam and Christianity
1.1.4.2.2. Localization of Rituals
1.1.4.2.3. Diasporic lines Dominates the Religious Identity

1.1.5. Theoretical Framework

1.1.5.1. Siddis as Diaspora

1.1.5.2. Key Elements of Diaspora Theorization
   1.1.5.2.1. Social Formation
   1.1.5.2.2. Consciousness
   1.1.5.2.3. Cultural Production

1.1.5.3. Traditional Theories of Diaspora
   1.1.5.3.1. Theory of Victim Diaspora
   1.1.5.3.2 Theory of Labour Diaspora
   1.1.5.3.3. Theory of Imperial Diaspora
   1.1.5.3.4. Theory of Trade Diaspora
   1.1.5.3.5. Theory of Cultural Diaspora

1.1.5.4. Contemporary Theories of Diaspora
   1.1.5.4.1. Theory of Multi-Hybrid Diaspora
   1.1.5.4.2. Theory of Queer Diaspora

1.1.5.5. Theories Relevant to African Diaspora in Karnataka
   1.1.5.5.1. Forced Movement as Victim Theorization
   1.1.5.5.2. African Rubrics as Cultural Theorization
Chapter 2
Social, Cultural and Religious Construction of Siddis

2.1. Social Organizations in Karnataka in General: Geographical Analysis
   2.1.1. North Kanara
   2.1.2. Belgaum
   2.1.3. Dharwad

2.2. Social Groups in General
   2.2.1. Caste
   2.2.2. Religion
   2.2.3. Gender
   2.2.4. Class

2.3. Hierarchy and Inter-group Relations between Siddis and Others
   2.3.1. Havyak /Havig Brahmin
   2.3.2. Lingayats
   2.3.3. Kunbis
   2.3.4. Vokkaligas
   2.3.5. Gowli

2.4. Gender Structure of Siddis
   2.4.1. Status in Family
   2.4.2. Educational Disparities
   2.4.3. Depriving Work-Structure for Women
   2.4.4. Positive Empowerment of Women through J.F.P.M

2.5. Ghar as a Unique African Sacred Space
   2.5.1. Uniqeness of Hiriyyaru as an African Worship
   2.5.2. Sacredness Represent African Spirituality.
   2.5.3. Purity and Pollution Ionized in African Spirituality
   2.5.4. Kartha Centipetalise Africanness
2.6. Bidhar as Sacred Space

2.6.1. Nucleation of Family
2.6.2. Creation of Virtual Ghar
2.6.3. Legitimacy to African Witchcraft
2.6.4. Recycling of African Life

2.7. Structure of Authority in Family
2.7.1 Conceptualisation on Regional Lines
2.7.2 Patriarchical Pattern Integrated

2.8. Kinship on African Family Pattern
2.8.1. Meaning
2.8.2 Maneyavaru
2.8.3 Bandugalu
2.8.4 Balagadanaru

2.9 Ritual Kinship as Local Bonding
2.9.1. Meaning
2.9.2 Manner and Impact of Baptism
2.9.3. Bonding Through Temple, Mosque and Church
2.9.4. Settlement and Buddhivanta for Kinship

2.10 Ancestral Cult: Hiriyaru Worship
2.10.1 Meaning
2.10.2 Similarities and Differences with African Practice
2.10.3 Hiriyaru Integrated Elements of Hinduism, Islam and Christianity
2.10.4 Remodeling of Local Religions by Hiriyaru Cult

2.11. Extra-Familial Religion for Localization
2.11.1. Meaning
2.11.2. Deities
2.11.3. Supernaturalization of Health
2.11.4. Ring Fence of Siddis by Local Cosmology
2.12. Conception, Birth and Initiation

2.12.1 Origin of Siddi Rituals

2.12.2 Assimilation of Local Practices

2.12.3 Continuity of African Rituals
CHAPTER 3
Marginalization and Assimilation of Siddis in Indian Social Set up of Karnataka

3.1. Geo-economic aspect of Uttara Kannada, Belgaum and Dharwad

3.2. Status of Siddis in the Caste Structure and Its Impact on their Development
   3.2.1. Economic Conditions of Siddis in Pre-1990 period
   3.2.1.2. Unorganized Settlement Structure
   3.2.1.3. Impact of Religion based Assimilation
   3.2.1.4. Accepted as Landless Social Group
   3.2.1.5. Siddi Development Project Created Political Consciousness

3.2.2. Economic Conditions of Siddis in Post-1990s
   3.2.2.1. J.F.P.M. made Forest as Participatory Zone for Siddis
   3.2.2.2. Access and Equity in Housing Sector
   3.2.2.3. Occupation Structure of Siddis
   3.2.2.4. Stagnant Agrarian Structure
   3.2.2.5. Lack of Productivity and Efficiency
   3.2.2.6. Vertical Mobility Through Positive Affirmation

3.3. Political Groups, Demands and Agitation of Siddis
   3.3.1. Limited Participation in Village Forest Committee
      3.3.1.1. Incorporation in IVth Zone
      3.3.1.2. Denial of Chairmanship in V.F.C.
   3.3.2. Integration in the Local Government
      3.3.2.1. ST status Provides Assimilation in the Panchayat System
      3.3.2.2. Politicisation of Siddis at the Grass Root Level
      3.3.2.3. Sustainable Development through Cooperative Societies

3.4. Challenges of Siddi Identity
   3.4.1. Recognition as Scheduled Tribe
      3.4.1.1 Plantation of New Identity
3.4.1.2 Status a Schedule tribe
3.4.1.3 Cognition of African and Indian Tribes
3.4.1.4 Synthesization of New Community

3.4.2. Search for New Trends of Mobilization
   3.4.2.1 Search for Universal Mobility
   3.4.2.2. New Challenges of Mobilization
4.1. Context of Folk Culture

4.1.1. Characteristics of African Folk Culture
   4.1.1.1. Scarifies and Offerings
   4.1.1.2. Celebration of Black Cultures

4.1.2. Indo-African Relations in Folk Culture
   4.1.2.1. Africans as Navigators in Indian Ocean.
   4.1.2.2. Images of Jamal-ud-din-Yaqut
   4.1.2.3. Images of Malik Ambar

4.2. Music

4.2.1. Presence of Intercultural Aspect in Siddi music
   4.2.1.1. Kannada language for Music
   4.2.1.2. Indian Ocean as Zone of Happiness

4.2.2. Narratives Dominates the Siddis Music
   4.2.2.1. Music for Social Purpose
   4.2.2.2. Tributes to Ancestors
   4.2.2.3. Prayer for Healing

4.2.3. Music as Cultural Construction of Emotions
   4.2.3.1. Pain of Slavery
   4.2.3.2. Sources of Imagination
   4.2.3.3. Construction of Heroism

4.3. Dance

4.3.1. Context of Dance in Tribes
   4.3.1.1. Role of Dance in Tribes
   4.3.1.2. Creation of Divinity

4.3.2. Local Symbolism and Gesture
   4.3.2.1. Appropriation of Holi dance
4.3.2.2. Appropriation of Moharam
4.3.3 Dhammal Dance act as Spirit Communication
4.3.3.1. Spirit Association in African Legacy
4.3.3.2. Dressing pattern of African Tribes
4.3.4. Traces of African Legacies
4.3.4.1. Rhythmic Movements
4.3.4.2. Body Movements
4.4. Challenges to Cultural Identity
4.4.1. Structural Pattern of Exploitation of Siddis
4.4.1.1. Construction as Lower Caste
4.4.1.2. Black as Color of Evils
4.4.2. Institutionalized Pattern of Appropriation of Siddis
4.4.2.1. Siddi as a Scheduled Tribe
4.4.2.2. Plantation of Hegemonic practices in Church
4.4.3. Challenges to Folk Culture
4.4.3.1. Local Religion as Assimilatory Challenges
4.4.3.2. Lack of Cultural Reproductive Infrastructure

Chapter 5
Conclusion 237-243

Bibliography 244-249

Appendices 250-266