I find a great pleasure to thank the many people who made this thesis possible. It is difficult to overstate my gratitude to my Research Guide, Professor Shridhar P. Gejji. With his enthusiasm and inspiration, he helped to make the subject fun for me. Throughout my thesis-writing period, he provided encouragement, sound advice, good teaching, good company, and lots of good ideas. I would have been lost without him.

I would like to thank the Head of Department Professor Madhurima Dikhit for allowing me to carry out present research work in the department. My sincere thank to Professor S. R. Gadre for constant encouragement and stimulating discussions, he fascinated me towards the subject in early days. A special mention of interesting discussions in particular with Professor R. K. Pathak from Department of Physics, University of Pune, and Dr. P. K. Chaudhary wiped off the distinguishing lines between the Faculty member and students while understanding the concepts in the subject.

I am indebted to my many colleagues of the lab for providing a stimulating and fun environment in which to learn and grow. I am thankful to Kaustubh, and Nilesh for introducing me to different aspects of the computational packages used. I am especially grateful to D.D. Patil, Dhurba, Bala, Milind, Ganesh, Jovan, Rutvik, and Anuja for the discussions in minute details on different subject matters revealing many new facets of the subject. I would also like to thank all the M. Sc. and IBB project students especially, Shreyas, Vivek and Anirban for knowledgeable discussions. I would like to thank my friends Pravin, Vitthal, Vikrant, Sagar, Anuj, Sudhir, Srinath and Deepak for constant encouragement during the Ph. D. work. I am thankful to Vikrant, Durbha, Sandip, Siddhu, Trupta, and Abhigya who kept me in momentum of research by providing references without delay. Thanks are extended due to Jayashree, Swarda, Mehboobeh, Priyanka, Maruti, Mahadev, Vijay, Priya, Kanchan, Sanket, Shaukat, Satish, Santosh, Vrushali, Neeta, Mohini and many others from the department for keeping a cheerful atmosphere.
A note of thanks is must to the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, New Delhi for providing financial assistance throughout my tenure in the department.

And most importantly, I express thanks to Aai and Dada (my parents), Vibhavari (my wife), Sachin, Sarika and family members, who always remained there as a constant source of inspiration all through these many years. To them I dedicate this thesis.

----------------------------

Rahul Vitthal Pinjari