Acknowledgements

With the grace of Lord Balaji my scientific enthusiasm was nurtured at this great Indian scientific Institution “Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology”. I am extremely thankful for the Institution for providing me an opportunity, co-operation and its facilities. My most valuable academic achievement was claimed as successful by the great guidance and supervision of my guide Dr Lalji Singh. My transformation from a student to a dedicated researcher is again a gift from his vast understanding towards the values of science and research. I pay my heartiest tributes to Late Dr Amar Pal Singh whose guidance and memories remained my strengths throughout my research. I am most indebted to Dr Lakshmi Rao, whose presence is always exemplary in my research. Her support and encouragements are well spoken from my each and every piece of research, publications, scientific skills and professional aptitude. I am very thankful to Dr Mamata Deenadayal and Dr Nalini Gupta for providing patients’ samples and timely clinical details. I also extend my regards for all the individuals who agreed to provide their DNA for assisting my research objectives. I am extremely thankful for my parents and family members who have always promoted my scientific interests and taught me the humane values to successfully accomplish my duties for our society. Being far from my family, I never felt lonely because of my dearest friends Gopal and Sandeep. My moments in sharing joys, sorrows, knowledge and gossips with them, will never be faded in my life. My Lab (E409) was another family where I not only learned and performed my research but really experienced the charm of research. All my lab colleagues Manjula, Surya, Arvind, Kanakavalli, Padmalatha, Raseswari, Anil, Pavan, Ajay, Bineet, Swapna, Raju and Rajendra have always been very friendly and supportive for me. My other friends Amitabh, Hitendra, Manish, Nitin, Sumit, and Sunil have always been around me to make me cheerful and progressive. I am highly thankful to Dr Nagesh and Joshi Ji for their constant support in allowing the sequencing facilities and fine chemicals. I am highly privileged to have Dr Ramesh V Sonti, Dr Rakesh K Mishra and Dr G R Chandak as my referees who imparted scientific and academic support all the time. I will always memorize all floor colleagues and staffs for being caring and affectionate. I would like to thank all the CCMB staff for providing their speedy help whenever required. Last but not the least; I thank CSIR for providing me the financial support.
