ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my great pleasure to express sincere gratitude to the almighty, my teachers, colleagues, friends and family members for their constant encouragement and invaluable guidance during the course of my studies for Ph.D.

I extend my heart felt deep gratitude to my guide Prof. Harsha S. Parekh for her meticulous and painstaking guidance during the long course of this study. I feel indebted to her for her encouragement and expert advice which only she could give. She is the one who stood by me when I was not well and constantly gave confidence that we will be able make this happen. This report has materialised more because of her efforts than mine. I would love to admit that I have had the best teacher and guide in this universe. Thanks Madam, for all that you did for me.

I also take the opportunity to thank all those who collected and collated secondary datasets which we have used in the present study. Thanks also to the authorities of S.N.D.T Women’s University for providing hostel facilities during my prolonged Mumbai visits. The team at S.H.P.T School of Library Science also helped a lot, special thanks to Dr. Perin Marolia for her thorough help in editing two chapters. Thanks also to Rupeshbhai for nicely printing the research report.

I am equally indebted to Shri N.H.Barodia, Shri P.C. Shah and Late Dr. Daksha Surti Madam who always wanted me to complete my doctoral studies. I would also like to express my gratitude to my dear friend Shyama Rajaram for her constant encouragement and help. This study could see the day light because of the good wishes of Vice Chancellor, Saurashtra University Dr. Kamlesh Joshipura who gave extensions for my study, necessary leave provision and showed confidence in my efforts. I am also thankful to my colleagues at Saurashtra University Prof Minakshi Desai, Prof Jyoti Naik, Prof. Marvania and Prof. Kamal Mehta who always reminded me that this needs to be done and encouraged me to work for the same.

I would love to remember all my friends, Chetu & Deepakbhai, the Baroda Gang, Anjani and her family, and my team mates and students at Rajkot who always cheered me. Last but not the least I would like to express my deep felt gratitude to my late Grand Parents, my lovely Papa and Mumma, Bhai and Bhabhi, Dolu my sis, her kids Rachit & Rashi, Ila and my lovely niece Gargi and Paragi for always being with me in ups and downs and specially for believing in me. Thanks for loving me so much.
