ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

To my guide Professor C.N. Venugopal, I owe a great deal; his influence on me, personally and professionally has been profound. For his constructive comments, thoughtful suggestions, constant help and guidance, I am grateful to him.

Dr. A.K. Gupta’s suggestions were invaluable. I am indebted to him for his critical comments and insights.

I owe a great deal of gratitude to all the faculty members of the Centre who since my M.A. days have provided useful guidance and insights at various stages of my stay in J.N.U. which helped me broaden my intellectual outlook. I am grateful to the staff of the Centre who provided the necessary guidance and support whenever required.

I am indebted to the staff members of the JNU Library, Planning Commission Library and the Teen Murti Library who helped me in the collection of information as and when required.

My effort would not have been successful had it not been for the patience and cooperation I received from my 320 respondents. By opening their personal lives to my scrutiny they enabled me to understand the various dynamics of the work and family sphere. My gratitude rests with Mrs. Dabral, Kamlesh, Vipul, Vikram and Manmohan without whose help my field-work would not have been so easy and smooth.
My thanks are also due to Dr. B.S. Nagi and the staff of the Centre for Social Development who helped in coding and analysis of my data. Mr. A.N. Talwar and Sheeba owe my thanks for the meticulous typing done by them.

It is my pleasure to acknowledge the encouragement I received from my Nani, Dadi Baba, Dada and Kaki who always inspired me to do better than my brothers.

My parents Mrs. and Dr. B.K. Sahi, and parents-in-laws Mrs. and Mr. H.S. Sinha, have been constantly supportive and encouraging me to complete my Ph.D. It would not have been possible for me to study without the help of my brothers especially Mangal and Maneesh who constantly took care of my children and household.

I am thankful to Maithili, Jyoti, Manoj, Shivendra Bhaiya, Gugu, Panna, Pankaj, Shivani, Mitul and all other family members and friends for their encouragement and help.

Thanks are due in no small measure to my husband Vinod who bore all the burden in spite of his hectic and erratic working schedule. The innocent queries of my children Mrinal and Vaibhavi like "whether my teacher would scold me for a bad work" and "why I was only writing and not learning anything" was a source of constant inspiration for me to complete my work at the earliest.

Padma Rani
PADMA RANI
THE UNIVERSE OF MY STUDY