Acknowledgements

Journey of my Research started more than 5 years ago at the IMTECH. During this tenure a long list of people were there to share my joys, sorrows and to be with me during my ups and downs. Without them it would not have been possible for me to complete my thesis research.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my deepest gratitude to my mentor Prof. G. S. Prasad, whose immense patience, positive guidance and care like a guardian kept me going. His advice and thought-provoking questions encouraged me to think. He was there to support me during my ill health and his encouragement kept me motivated when I felt disappointed and dejected.

I am deeply thankful to Dr. Tapan Chakrabarti for his fatherly care, affection, guidance and support through my career. I am grateful to Dr. K. Ganesan for his constructive suggestions and his guidance in analyzing the results of my genetic screen. I deeply appreciate the suggestions and ever-helping attitude of Prof. M. A. Lachance.

I would also like to thankfully acknowledge the former director of the Institute, Dr. Amit Ghosh, and the present director Dr. Girish Sahni, for providing me with research facilities to carry out my work. Without the technical help and cooperation of these two individuals, I could never have started my work.

I feel immense gratitude towards Dr. Mayil Raj, for his guidance, upbeat attitude and light-hearted chitchats which were all very helpful in cheering me up most of the times. I am thankful to Mrs. Prasad and Mrs. Mayil Raj for providing excellent food on Saturdays and providing homely environment.

I am grateful to Dr. A.K. Bachhawat for his thoughtful suggestions and for allowing me to borrow chemicals from his lab time and again, which were instrumental in carrying out my work smoothly and without interruption.

I express my immense gratitude for Dr. Jain who helped me raise funds for my trip to Germany, when nobody was able to help. In addition, his valuable suggestions and permission for using instruments in his lab are also greatly appreciated.

A special token of thanks is due towards Dr. Suresh for his constructive suggestions and timely help throughout my tenure and Mrs. Suresh, for providing me family atmosphere. I would like to avail this opportunity to thank Mr. Deepak who was immensely cooperative in running my sequencing samples.

I would like to duly acknowledge Mr. Paramjit, who taught me microbiological work. I can never forget the continuous help, support, of my senior Murthi, his patience in training and raising confidence in me when I started my work.

My heartfelt thanks also to my junior Ravi, with whom I have shared many moments to cherish and remember. His respect, ever-helping attitude and encouragement propelled me at difficult times. My thanks also to my present and past lab colleagues especially Malkit ji, Girija ji, Upen ji, Sushil, Sudhir, Pukhraj, and other members of the lab: Deepika, swati and Maniram who provided me a congenial atmosphere in the lab. I really enjoyed the company of my trainees Kapil, Shashi, and Anu, the evening walks and conversations with them are unforgetable. My special thanks to Dr. Ruckmani and Satinder Sohal for her kind help during last months of thesis.

I also enjoyed very much the company of my trainees Amit Sharma, Sita Ram and Jagpreet who were there as lab colleagues when I was the only student in my lab. Two of the trainees with whom I formed a special friendship are Dr. Shivprakash and Dr. Samir Damare, who were extremely friendly despite being senior to me. Their attitude towards learning from juniors is really appreciable.

I cannot imagine my stay at IMTECH without the love and support of my friends Jaspreet, my roomie Loveena, my seniors Rohan, Shazbeer and Vibhu, with whom I have spent most of my time outside the lab. I have shared a special relationship with them and most of all earned a life-long friendship that made my stay at IMTECH most memorable and pleasurable.
My special bond with Onu (Anuradha) and Vandana di is especially acknowledged. Their care and love impacted every aspect of life.

The journey would have really been tough without the cooperation and timely help whenever required by seniors especially: Dr. Rekha, Dr. Srikanth, Dr. Amita, Dr. Sangeeta, Dr. Rahul, Dr. Amrita, Dr. Vibhu, Dr. Shubbir, Dr. Meghna, Dr. Sukhwinder Kaur and Dr. Narender, Words fail to justify the untiring care and affection showered by these seniors on me.

I enjoyed the cheerful company of my batchmates: Sekhar, Kishore, Shilpy, Manish, Sankalp, Neetu, Neha and Ashok. My special thanks to Kamlesh and Mannan for their friendship and scientific discussions. A person who deserves a very special mention is my batchmate and friend Amit, who was always there accompanying me during my ups and downs. I will always miss birthday parties and lady sangeet celebrations at girls' hostel with my juniors: Rachna, Archana, Sushma, Sneha, Shweta, Divya, Ashu, Dipanwita, Swati Haldar and Vijaya. I always cherish the company of my juniors and friends: Surinder, Pankaj Chauhan, Hemant, Vijender and Mohan.

I will also always miss cafeteria tea (10:30 am and 3:30 pm). I always enjoyed the cheerful company of my friends Mahesh, Golu, Aslaam, Alpana, Rajesh, Vinod, Rashim Pal, Ranjana and Santosh during this tea hour.

I cannot express in words my gratitude to the mess workers especially Nagpal Ji, Ram Lal Ji, Pratap, Jacob, Vipin and others who provided healthy and tasty food.

I would like to give special mention to Richa for her moral support and spiritual discussions and Lomary for his joyful company.

It wouldn't have been possible for me to complete my work without the timely help of the members of Dr. A.K. Bachhawat's and Dr. K. Ganesan's lab, especially Dr. Sanjoy, Anil, Sushma, Akilesh, Yashpal and Hardeep.

I would also like to thank the administrative staff of accounts, store and purchase sections, the staff of the BIC department and library for their invaluable support. My special thanks to the staff of the horticultural department whose immense hard work provided an aesthetically relaxing and fresh environment that made the stay at IMTECH a pleasure. I would like to thankfully acknowledge the CSIR for providing me the fellowship (C.S.I.R. Award No 31/50 (193)/2003- EMR-I) and financial support for my stay.

I am very lucky to have Sanjay as my life partner, who is a special gift from God to me. He is my strength and his utmost care, love, cooperation and patience will be strengthening me throughout my life.

I cannot put in words my gratitude to my in-laws (Bhaiya and Bhabi) for their love, care and moral boost during stressful times and my nephew and niece, Chhotu and Simran playing and talking to them which helped to destress me.

I would never have reached this stage in my career if it were not for the constant encouragement, complete support for all my decisions, and unconditional love of my Daddy, Mamma, Renu di, Surinder jiju, Seema di, Bharat Jiju, Ajay bhaiya, Bhavana Bhabhi, my gratitude to them cannot be put in words. The immense love of my niece Joel and nephews: Dimpu and Jatin can always brighten my day.

Beyond everything in this World, it is only by God’s constant grace and blessing that I have reached every milestone thus far. This thesis would never have reached fruition without God’s help for which I will be eternally grateful.
